The Performing Arts are alive at South

1. Nazi Officers Mike Lowenstein and Eric Reich perform in "The Sound of Music."
2. Before a dress rehearsal all the costumes must fit properly.
3. Practice is a major part of every performance. Here Kurt Rasmussen and Jenny Adkison dance through a scene.

New theatre dedicated by “The Sound of Music”

In dedication of the new Performing Arts Center, Rodgers' and Hammersteins' "Sound of Music" was performed November 12-15, 19-22, and a special encore performance on November 30. Standing ovations were commonplace, as Kurt Rasmussen and Jenny Adkins gave stunning performances as Captain and Maria VonTrapp. The children were played by Cara Kavanaugh, Rob Helm, Stacy Smith, and Eric Stevens. Two sets of three elementary students also performed: Holly Herbert, Ruthe Spooner, Trish Mickelson, LaRene Terry, Susan Daus, and Raquel Purchase

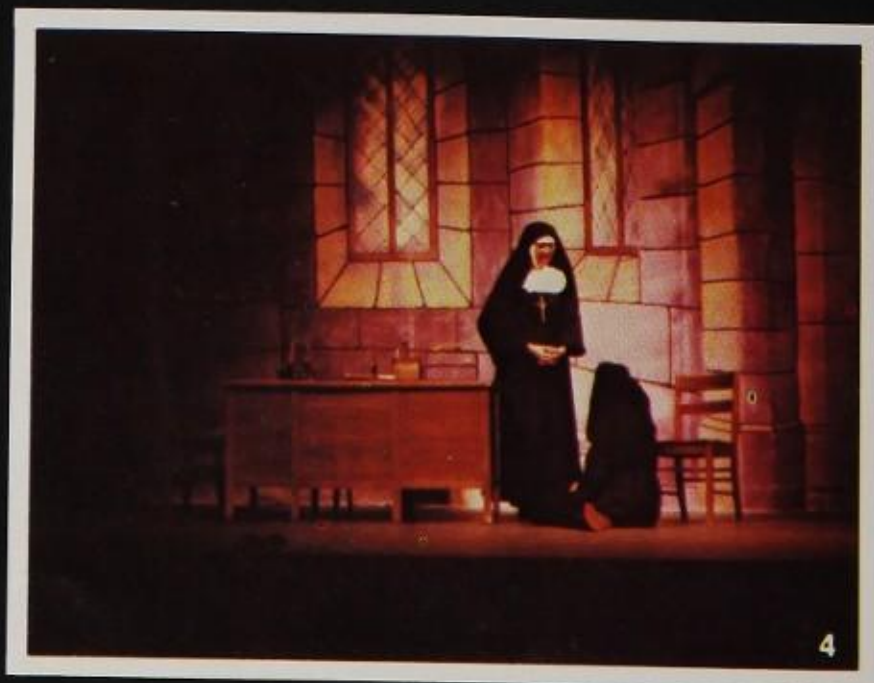

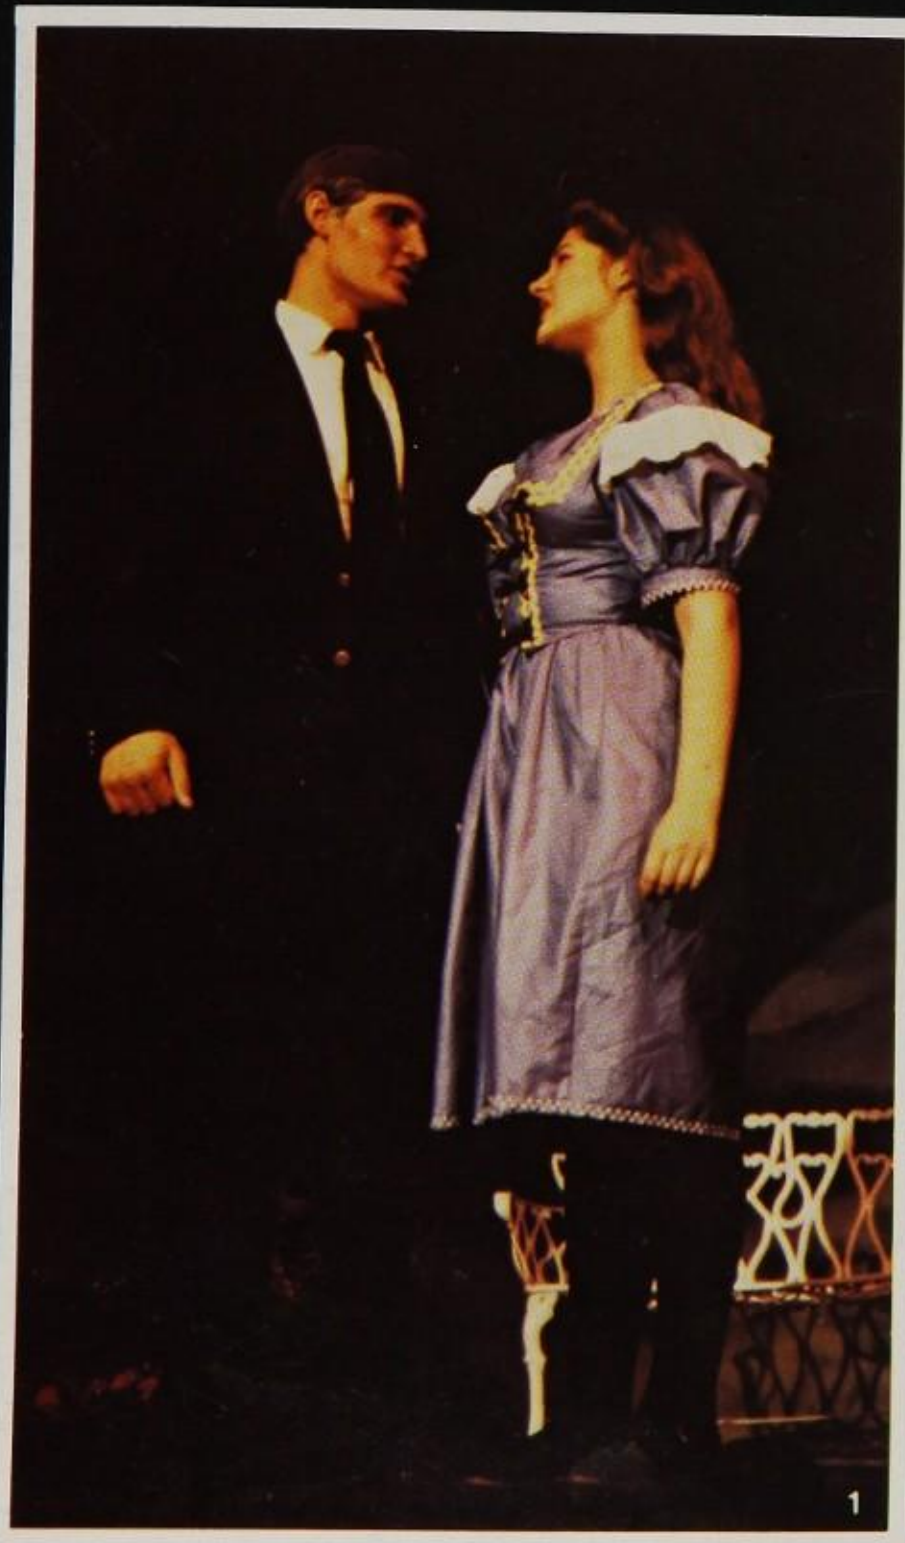

SK students were involved in more than the dramatics. Vocational Photography provided photographs for the program printed by Vocational Graphic Arts. South's wood shop, metal shop, and art classes were involved in set design and construction. Many other individuals helped make costumes, sell tickets, operate lighting, make scene changes, apply make-up, and fix the hair of the cast.

The musical was well received by the public from the very first scene when a choir of angelic nuns came on stage chanting, to the wedding scene, to the final mountain scene when the VonTrapp Family waved "good-bye."

1. After a touching performance, Brian McCallie and Debbie Helms receive gifts with the rest of the cast.
2. Mother Abbess, Casandra Lynam, and Sister Maria, Jenny Adkison, sing in the Abbey.

1. George Von Trapp sings "Just an Ordinary Couple."
2. Liesel and Rolf sing "Sixteen Going on Seventeen."
3. The Von Trapp Family prepares to sing "Edelweiss."
4. The Mother Abbess tells Maria she is not fit for the Convent.
5. Capt. Von Trapp discusses why Maria is not the governess any more.
6. The nuns sing "Maria."
7. Kurt and Fredrick tell Maria they are not afraid of lightning.
8. Maria and the children sing "Do, Re, Me."

1. Cpt. Von Trapp and Maria sing "Just an Ordinary Couple."
2. Von Trapp children sing "So Long, Farewell" as they go off to bed.
3. Herr Zeller warns the Von Trapps to fly the Nazi flag.
4. Leisle and Rolf dance and sing "Sixteen Going on Seventeen."
5. Children are happy to see Maria after she returns from the convent.
6. Mr. Teeter directs construction students on the building of the stairs.
7. Cpt. Von Trapp and Maria show Kurt and Brigitta how to dance.

“Anything Goes” the second musical

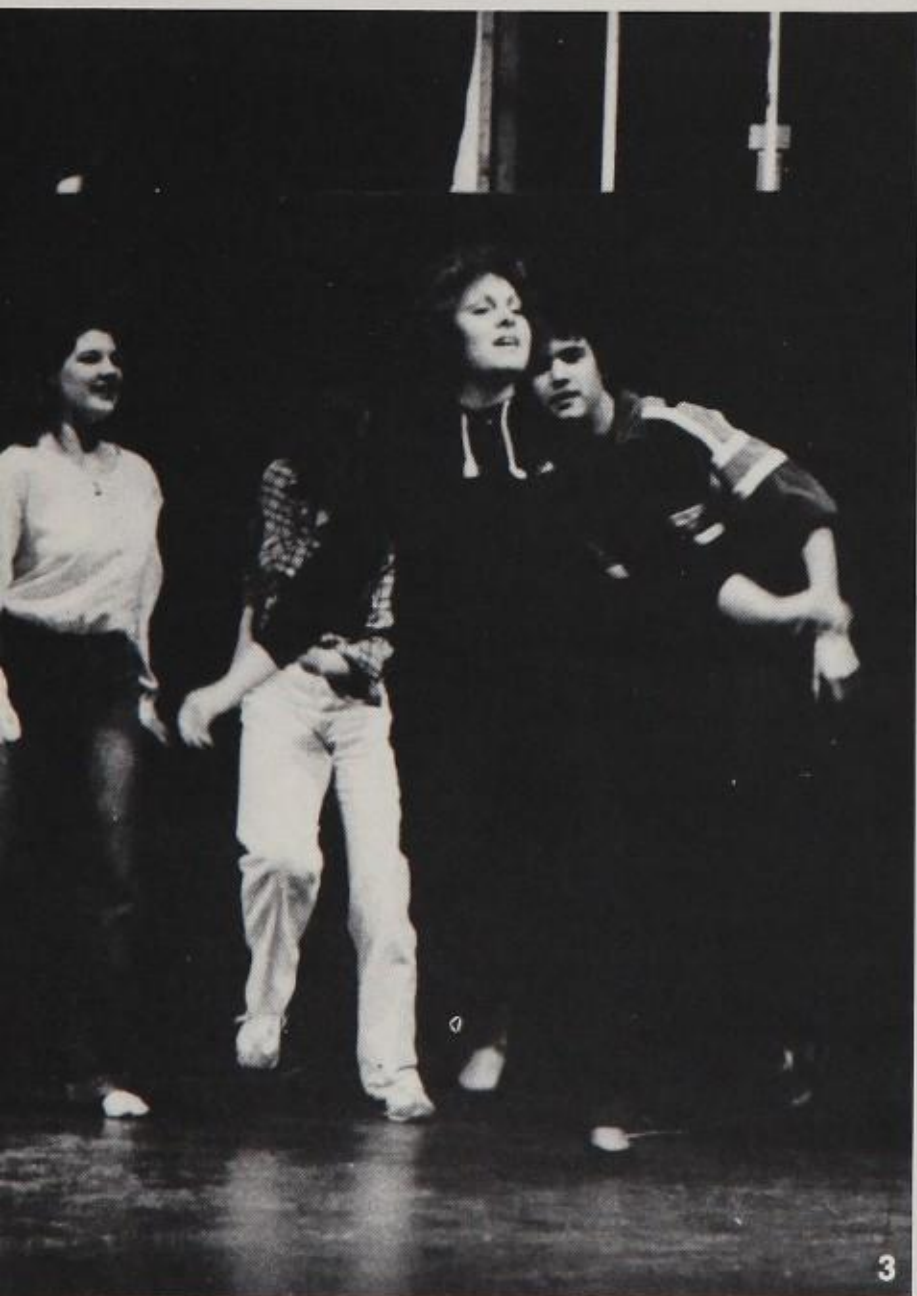

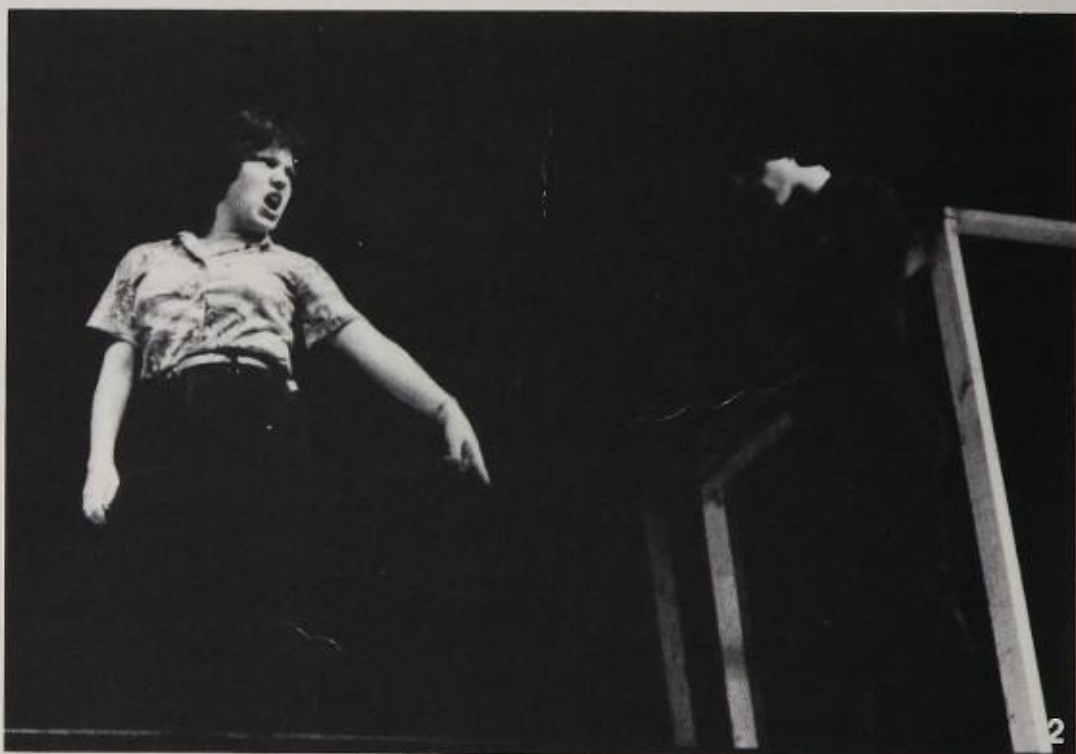

The first week of the second trimester not only brought schedule changes and mass confusion, but for some the beginning of four hour rehearsals and three and a half months of total devotion. Auditions for the second musical of the year, “Anything Goes”, were held the first week of December after a three day crash course in dancing directed by Marilyn Tracy.

The cast was chosen and placed into the Performing Arts Class. Rehearsals were delayed about three weeks because the scripts were late in arriving. When the scripts arrived the work began: evenings from six to ten plus an hour in class each day. Also Saturday practicing was from nine to twelve then later from one to five.

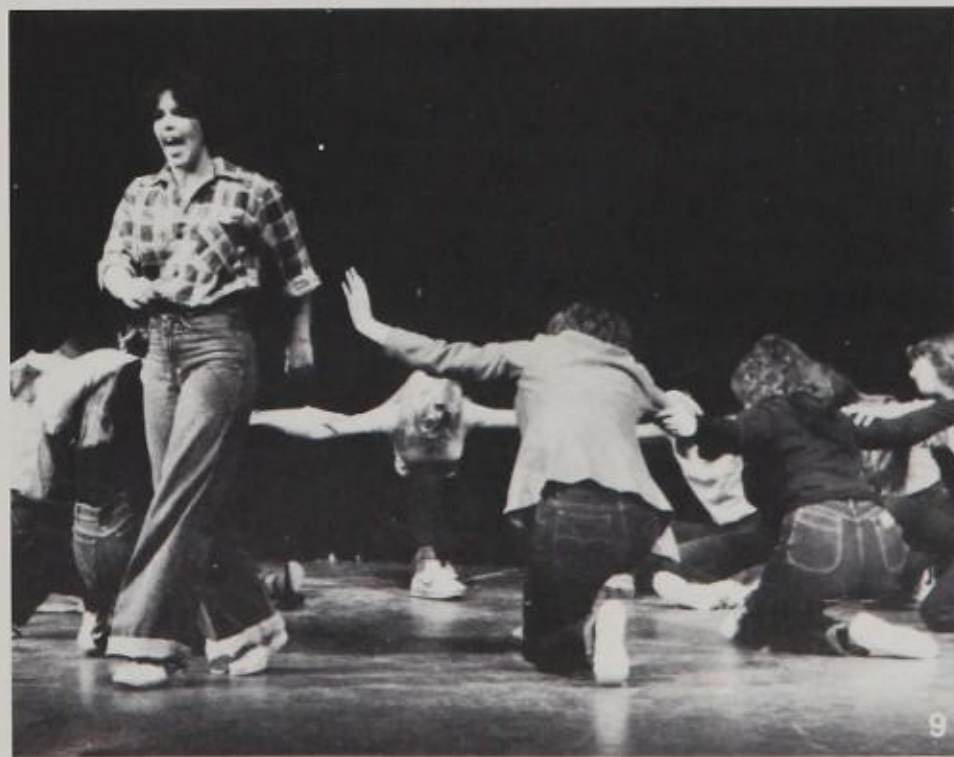

After weeks of perfecting, the first dress rehearsal was March 13. Then the true test was opening night. How would the audience react? Would it go over smoothly without a flaw?

Yes, the musical comedy “Anything Goes” (March 18-21 and 25-28) was an entertaining success for the SK student performers and crew.

John Mitchell, director; Randi Peterson, assistant director; and Jeff Mitchell, music director, combined their talents again on this musical.

1. Reno and the cast sing and dance to "Blow, Gabriel, Blow."
2. Reno sings "Anything Goes" to Billy.
3. Chastity taps out a song.
4. The entire cast sings and dances.
5. Sailors dance to "Bon Voyage".
6. "Friendship" is performed by Moonface, Reno, and Billy.
7. Bonnie and the Angels perform the "Heaven Hop".
8. The cast performs to the musical number "Anything Goes".
9. The Angels sing and dance and have fun.

“Curious Savage”: First non-musical in over a decade

“The Curious Savage” was the first non-musical play presented in South Kitsap in over a decade. The warm hearted comedy was directed by Randi Peterson and assistant directed by Lee Harwell. The play gave many non-musical students the opportunity to show their talent and skill while doing what they like best, acting.

The play ran for three days--May 21,22,23--with three dress rehearsals and several weeks of preparation in order to make the play a success. The actors' and actresses' time and dedication helped make the play a hit.

There were other people who donated time and help in the construction and developing of the set. Mrs. Templeton's Interior Decorating class helped design the set. Mr. Teter's construction class built a scene depicting the inside of a mental institution with a large 12 foot high window that was used for most of the play.

1. Mrs. Savage relaxes after a long day in the institution.
2. Mrs. Paddy's examination of her teddy bear concerns Mrs. Savage.
3. Dr. Emmett takes a few notes for the record.
4. With an idea in mind, Mrs. Savage consults with Florence and Fairy May.

Students, Faculty share the learning experience

1. Eileen Enstrom leans forward to help someone in her science class.
2. Glen Wachtman participates in an experiment for a science class.
3. Mike Sayers, art, English, and social studies teacher, studies a problem in the art class.
4. Foreign Language teachers, Senior Hogue and Frau Burke, proudly hold their mugs.

Home and Family Life : An

Designed to prepare students for personal living, as well as creating career awareness, the Home and Family Life department offers a variety of classes. The basic classes of foods and clothing are presented along with such classes as Family Living, which takes students through the whole process of marriage and setting up a home; Home Environment, which gives instruction in interior decorating; and Child Development, which introduces students to "hands on" care of children in the day care center offered three days a week.

Thanks to classes like these, students gain more knowledge of and insight into family living.

1. Participating in a mock wedding are Dale Howell and Michelle Wright.
2. Bridget Wolf, Teresa Hayes, and Kristi Bering talk while working on their hooked rugs.
3. Helping day care students fingerprint is Phyllis George.
4. Renee Johnson supervises the young children in the day care room.
5. Holding up the bottle of apple cider is Shannon Drew.
6. Laura Bernier puts the final touches on her hooked rug project.

The Industrial Arts experience

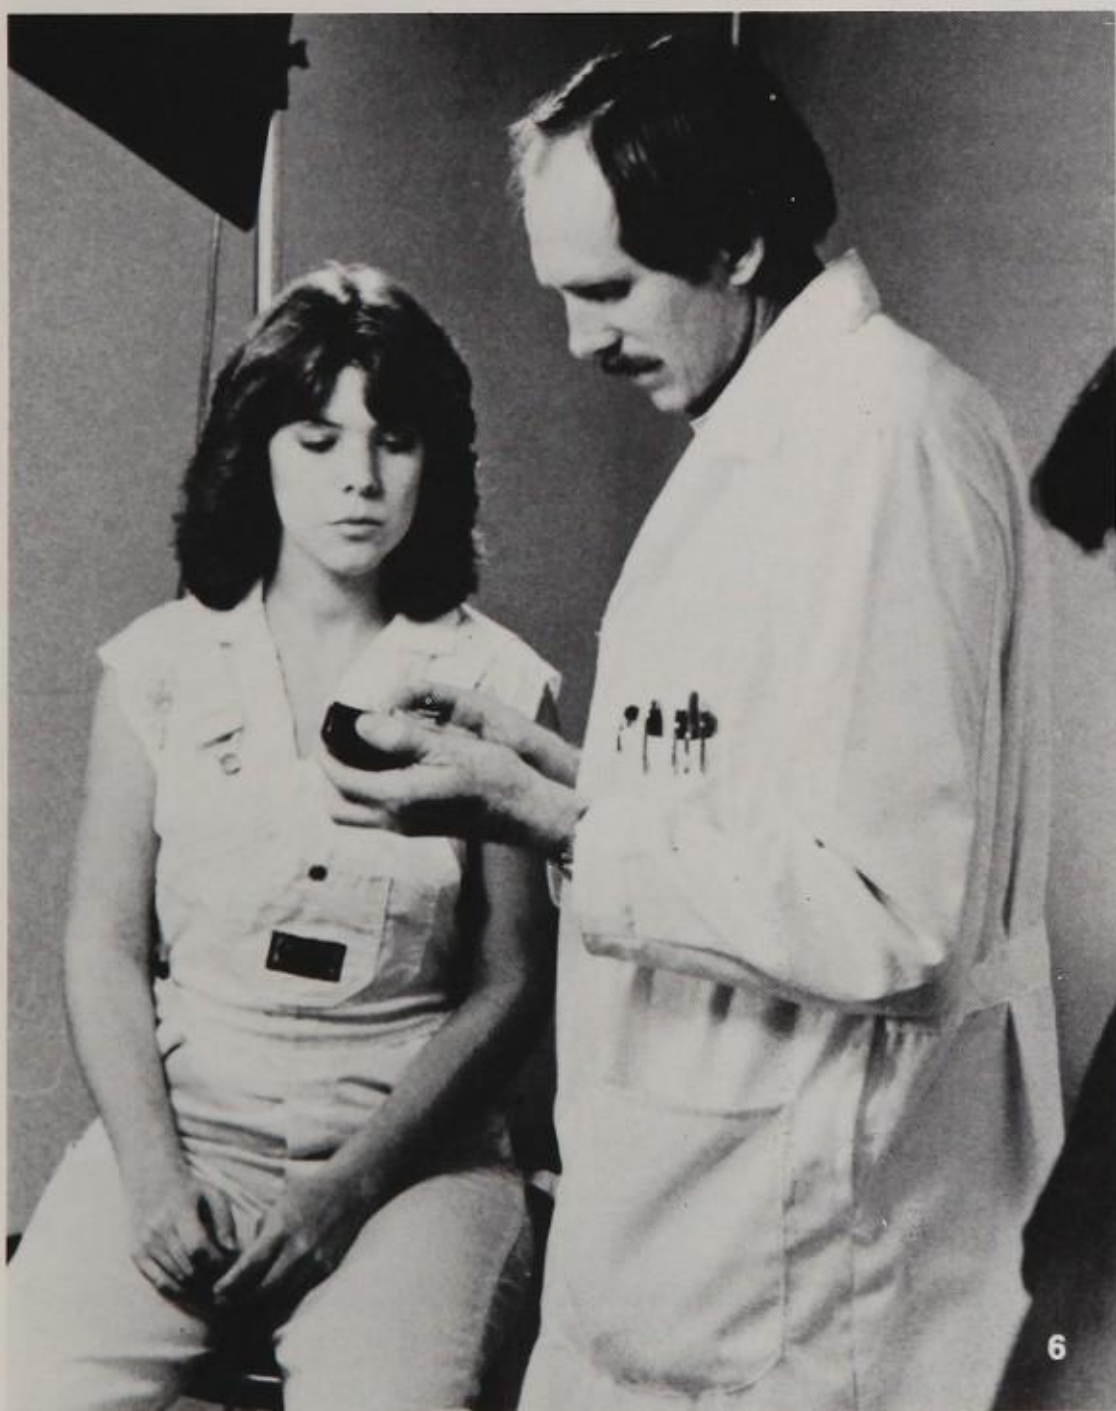

Preparing the students for the industrial world and the future is the main goal of Industrial Arts. Through practical, in-class experience, the students are taught the elements of the course with careful supervision by the instructors.

Some Vocational classes offered are: Auto Mechanics, Electronics, Graphic Arts, Machine Shop, and Photography. In these classes, the student gains experience to aid him in the working world.

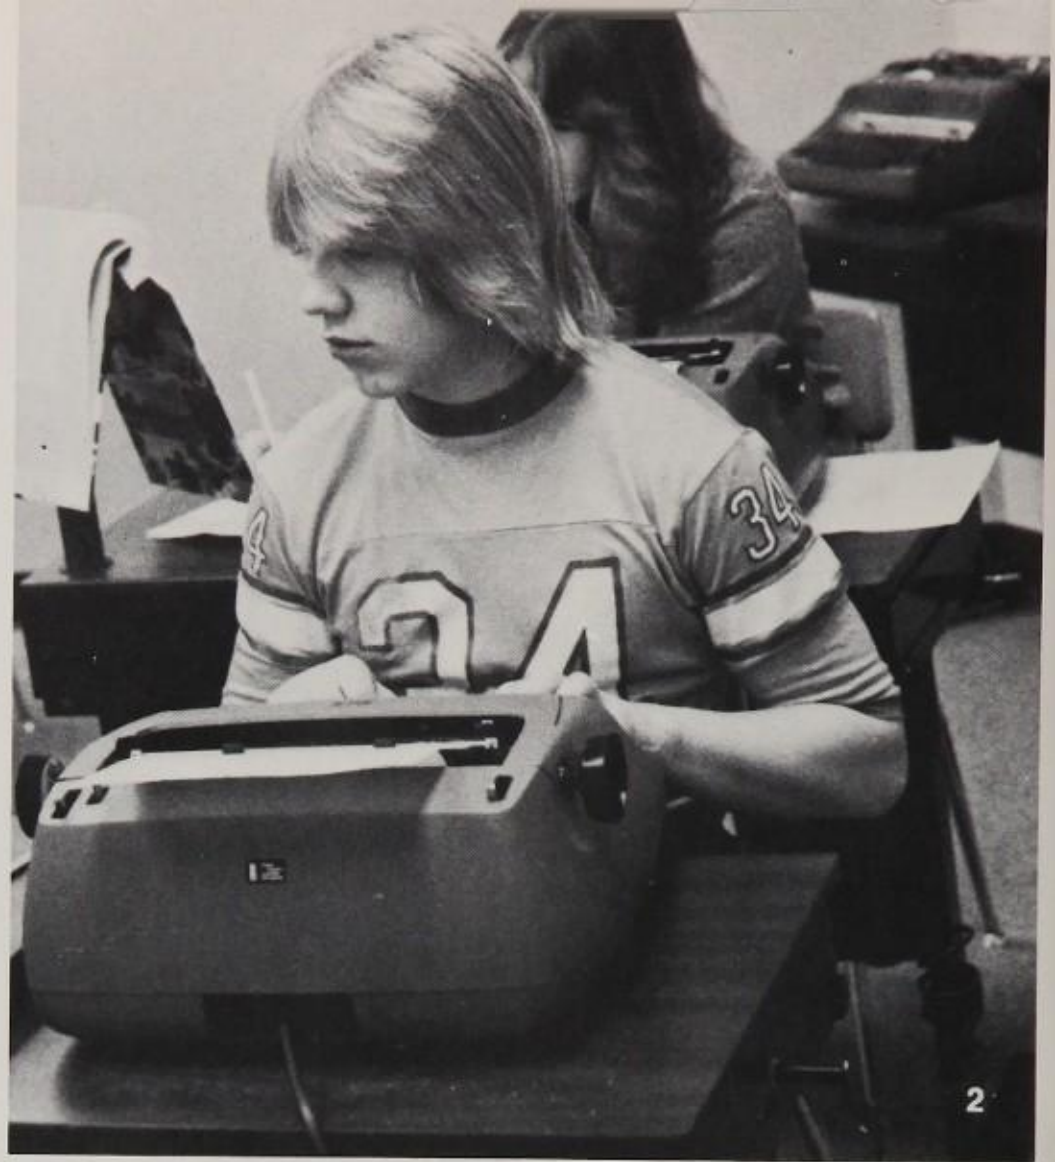

1. Dean Perdue takes time out from his drafting.
2. Brushing up on their architectural skills are Rex Warren and David Head.
3. Elias Sablan and Dean Cross put the final touches on an electronics project.
4. Terry Tester adjusts the lathe before beginning his project.
5. Checking the electric circuits are Doug Smith and John Cook.
6. Dave Olsen, photography instructor, checks the lighting as Chelle Hughes looks on.
7. A student uses the bandsaw to cut the piece of wood for a woodshop project.

SK gets down

to business

"Developing future leaders" is the main goal of Business Education classes. Through practical, in-class experience, the students take on the business world and its problems. The positive attitude of the teachers and the keen interest in learning by the students insures the best business awareness possible.

Some business education classes offered at SK include typing, shorthand, accounting, Diversified Education, Occupational Education, and Office Machines.

1. Lynn Fleischbein puts some effort into her typing.
2. Learning the basics of typing is Brad Miller.
3. Corrine Fairchild, Brenda Rikstad, and John Delgado pose inside the student store.
4. Brushing up on cash register skills are Debbie Stoican and Kathy Carr.

I hope you never need us, but if you do..
WEBBER'S TOWING--4831 Bethel Road

Physical Education

Physical fitness is the main goal of Physical Education. The students are involved in many different activities where coordination, strength, endurance, and skill are sharpened under the teacher's supervision.

There were two new classes added to the PE curriculum this year. Thanks to the completion of the new indoor pool, by third trimester, students had a choice of Lifesaving or Swim for Fitness.

1. Concentrating on their weightlifting are Ed Shelby and Eric Webb.
2. Phil Cole puts all his effort into kicking the medicine ball.
3. Taking notes in part of Traffic Safety as Deanne Cherry finds out.
4. Cheryl Davis concentrates on her Traffic Safety homework.

Traffic Safety

Traffic Safety offers students a chance to drive a car; for some, for the very first time. While most time is spent in the classroom, several days are set aside for students to drive electronic simulators which give them the actual feeling of driving a car.

This course is an elective, but in order to be eligible for a license in the state of Washington, under age 18, students must have completed a Traffic Safety course.

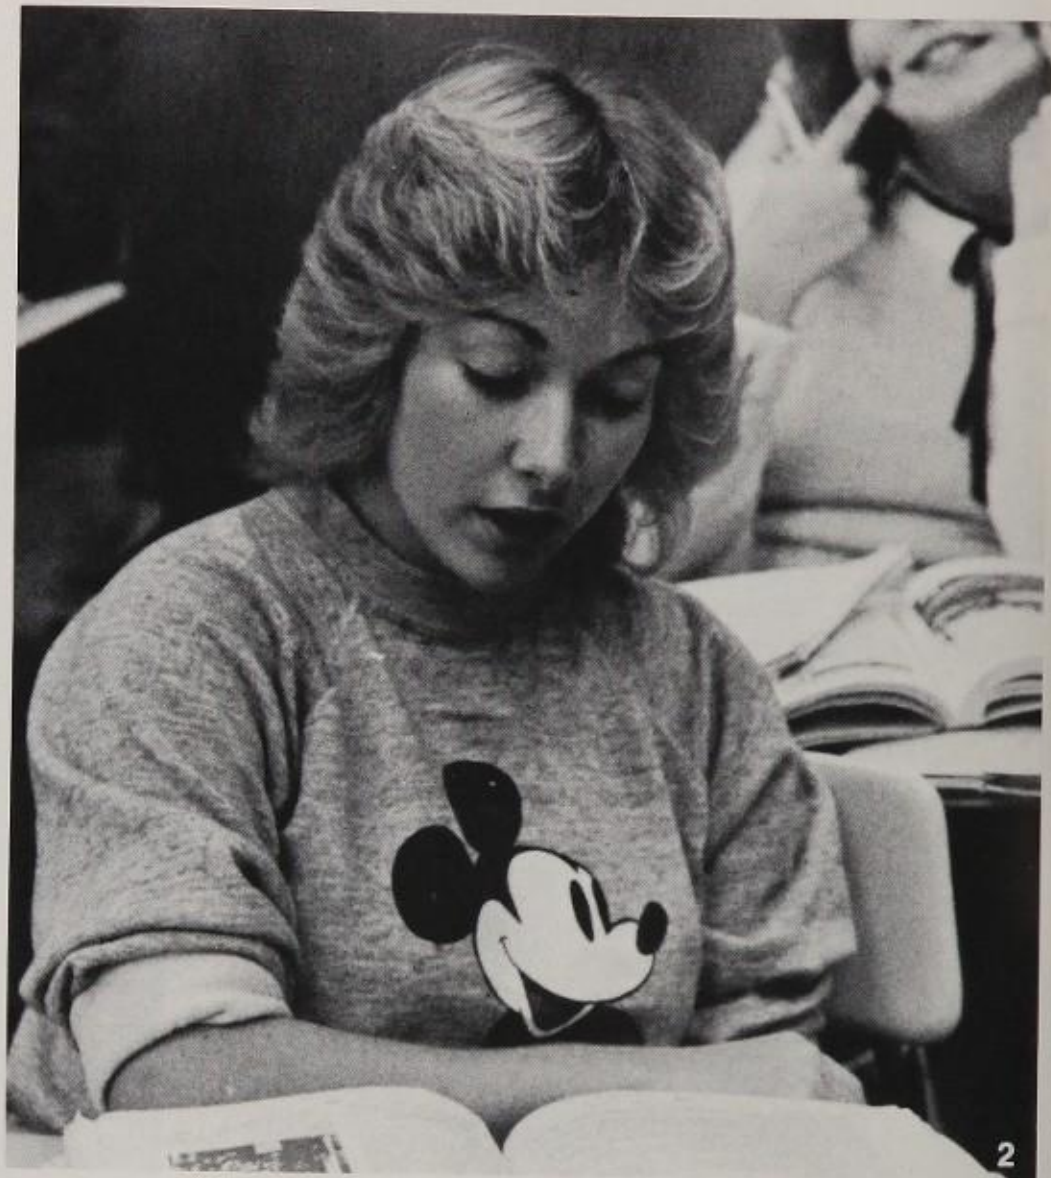

Congratulations, seniors, from

World problems discussed in social studies

The development of Industry, America's rise to power and fall to depression, World Wars and post World Wars, and the society as a whole are just a few of the areas covered by the Social Studies department. Making the students aware of the men and women that built this country as well as the economic and political backbone and functions of the U.S. are emphasized by the Social Studies staff.

Some of the Social Studies classes offered at South are World History, Washington State History, Perspectives on Death, Survey of U.S. History, Law Enforcement, Government, Economics, and Psychology.

1. Reading the government book is Ed Macabitas.
2. Juleen Reems reads up on her Washington State History work as Deanna Schow, in background, shows her dimples.
3. Watching and waiting for the class to end is Erin Coolen.

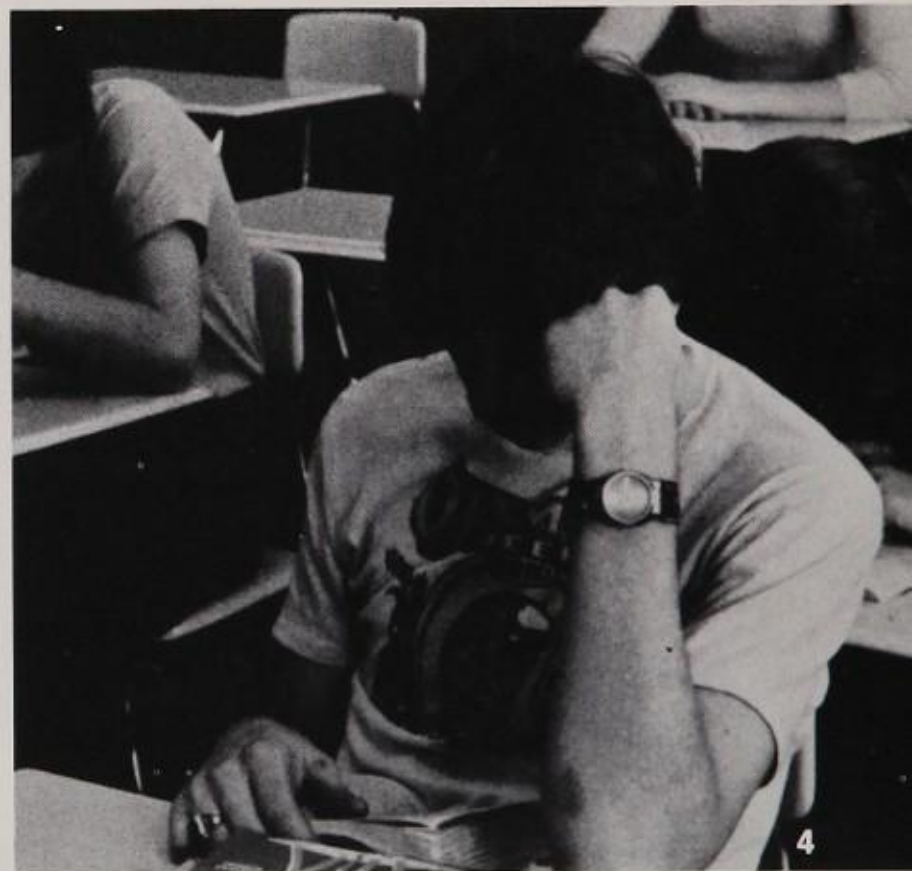

English classes part of student life

The Language Arts department is the largest of all academic departments at South. The department is designed to enable each student to gain a firm foundation in literature, grammar, vocabulary, and writing before he graduates from high school.

Some English courses offered cover English Usage, Mystery Lit., Journalism, Skuhkum Views, American Short Stories and Poetry, American Black Lit., Science Fiction, Shakespeare, Bible Lit., Expository Writing, Drama, and College Prep Vocabulary.

1. Paul McCree concentrates on his reading.
2. Waiting their turn in Drama are Cathy Gromlin and Peggy Whitlow.
3. David Dudley finds out that reading and writing are all part of English.
4. Reading and more reading as John Jake reads silently his Fantasy Literature book.

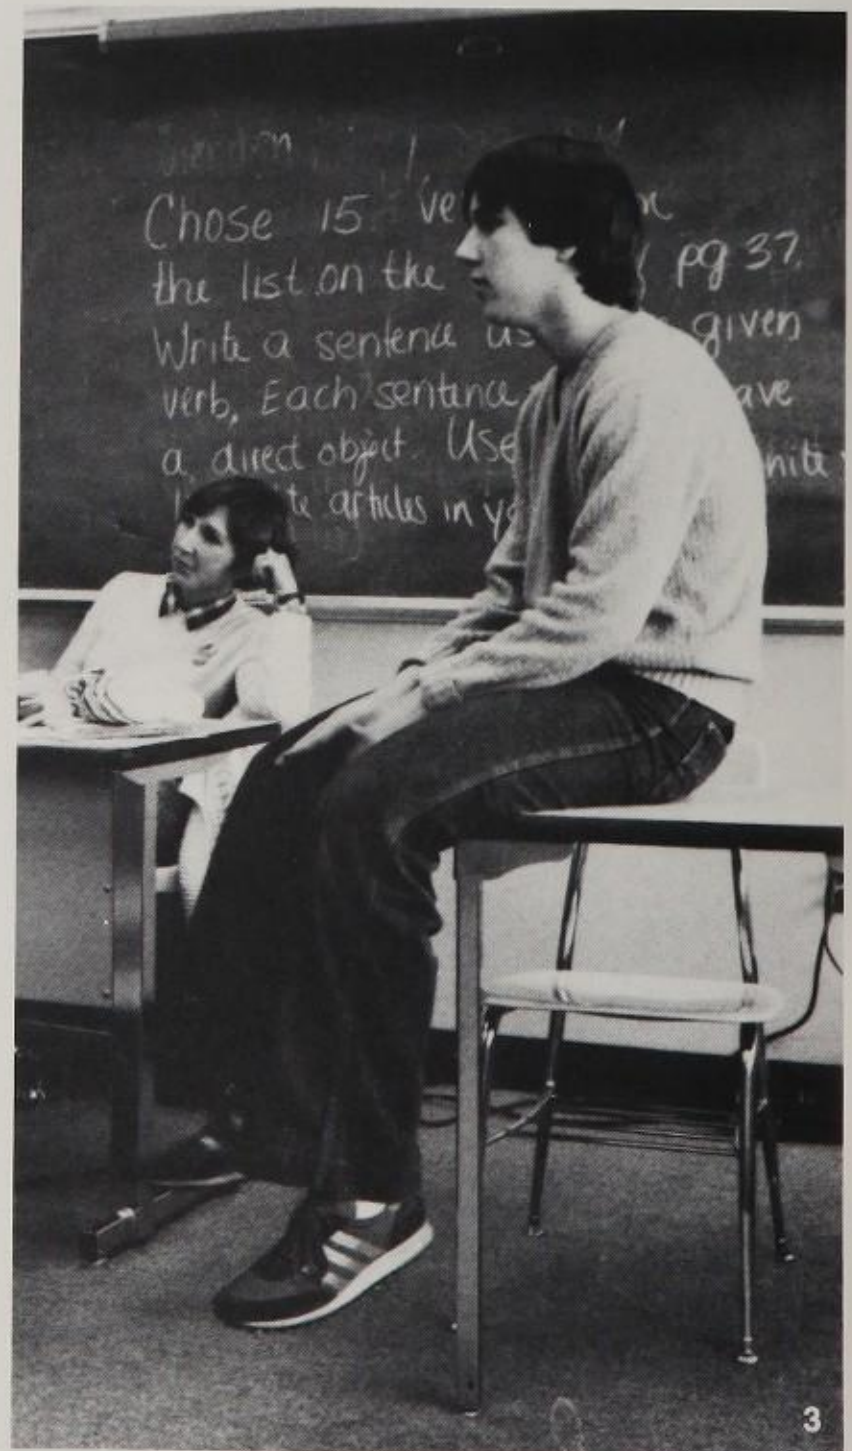

Sprechen sie Espanol?

Making the students feel comfortable while learning to speak another language is the top concern in foreign language classes. The students learn appreciation for their respective languages and cultures by listening to tapes and records as well as open book study. For reinforcement, students participate in learning games and conversations in their respective languages.

The two foreign language classes offered at South are German and Spanish. Students interest makes foreign language a popular department.

1. Toni Schryver, Lisa Peterson, and Rob Helm practice a play in German class...
2. Waiting for class instructions are Kurt Fosmire and Pete Lyons.
3. Jeff Burgess awaits his turn to speak.
4. Several Spanish students take time out to compare notes.

Computers, genetics only part of math, science program

The math and science classes offered at SK give the students a wide variety of classes to choose from. Some math classes offered include basic math, consumer math, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, calculus, and computers.

Some science classes offered are biology, basic science, genetics, ecology, zoology, botany, chemistry, physics, and agriculture.

Thanks to the completion of the new school, the students have more room to work. The science classes have larger labs to work on their hypotheses and experiments. The math classes basically stick to learning from the book.

1. Demonstrating how to use the microscope is Terri Allen.
2. Rose Huening works on her math.
3. Doing homework is always part of math classes as these students find out.
4. Matt Murphy uses his gardening knowledge to clip a small plant.

Artists gain new skills

The newly remodeled art area has made it possible to offer many more art classes. The facilities now provide for jewelry, pottery, sculpture, as well as the traditional drawing and painting.

Students from the art classes entered the Sidney Art Contest and out of 81 entries, 10 were awarded ribbons. Many more had honorable mention.

1. Jeff Hayes decides how he wants his design to be laid out.
2. Painting takes patience as Sheryl Bartin finds out.
3. Derris Young isn't fingerpainting, he is just touching up his painting.

Pickin' and grinnin'

Developing technique, style, and composition are the main emphasis in the guitar classes. By practicing with the guitar daily, the students begin to acquire the appreciation and knowledge of music and how it should be played. Guitar and Advanced Guitar are the two guitar classes offered.

Music Theory is also offered at South. The class is designed to stimulate the writing creativity of advanced juniors and seniors. This class is very good in instructing students on the finer points of music theory and introduces them to the music writer's atmosphere.

1. Tuning up the guitar is Robert Jack.
2. Kerry Page plays a short song for the class.
3. Susan J. Wilson practices with the bass chello.

5. Dean McCrory and Eric Elkins intently watch something at a pep assembly.
6. Donny Pugh takes the plunge into the new swimming pool. Swimming was a favorite class and after or before school activity.

Extra-curricular activities were an important part of life at South. Activities included dances, assemblies, "going to the pool" before school, and playing backgammon during lunch. Clubs were high in spirit and energy. Involvement was the main emphasis at meetings and club activities.

ASB handles school funds

ASB was led by senior Kevin Gardner. His goals were to unite the school, promote school spirit and pride, to have activities that everyone could enjoy and to promote participation.

These goals were accomplished by having assemblies with class competitions to see who was better. The three classes also had competitions to see who could get the most computer labels.

The idea of saving the computer labels was introduced by the ladies in the kitchen. The computer labels gave a person one free hour on a kidney machine.

ASB regulates all school funds. Representatives from clubs go to meetings to have fundraisers approved and to get the money to buy whatever the club is going to sell.

ASB officers were: Joan Lyman, treasurer; Kelly Webster, secretary; Peter David Burgess, vice president; Kevin Gardner, president.

Honor Society travels to Seattle

Honor Society recognizes students with 3.2 grade point averages from ninth grade. Sophomores are not allowed to join until second trimester with first trimester as a "proving time." Students who have a 3.5 grade point average are eligible for membership in the National Honor Society. If students graduate with a cumulative 3.5 gpa or above, they will wear a gold honor cord at graduation.

This year's Honor Society went to the Pike Street Market and the Pacific Science Center in Seattle. They put on the Laurel's Banquet which honors seniors and announces scholarships and awards.

Honor Society was led by President Marcella Murphy, Vice president Toni Schryver, Secretary Diana Smith, and Representative to Senate David Sammeth.

SK Spirit groups are loyal

Throughout the year the Spirit groups have supported the Wolves through thick and thin. Their enthusiasm and spirit has generated more participation by school pupils and loyal fans.

Planning money raisers in order to buy goodies for the teams and attending "end of the season" banquets were two jobs all Spirit groups handled.

All this added up to the dedication needed to be a Spirit member.

Cheerleaders show their spirit

The 1980-1981 Cheerleaders helped the South Kitsap teams onto victory. All three squads cheered at every home and away game.

Varsity Football Cheerleaders put on Homecoming Spirit Week and held a dance in the gym after the Foss game as well as selling ribbons for 25 cents at each game. The squad practiced every Tuesday and Thursday after school with their advisor, Julie Cox.

Basketball Cheerleaders began their season with a bake sale to help raise money for their uniforms. The girls wanted to get more recognition for the girls' sports and to get the student body enthusiastic and fired up with spirit. The basketball squad would like to give special thanks to the Spear Family and Mr. and Mrs. Jake for attending all home and away games.

Wrestling squad, along with Wrestling spirit, sold pompoms, Kiss-o-grams, and Val-o-grams. Their goal was to involve a bigger portion of the student body in spirit activities. Cheerleaders decorated the guys' houses. Their advisor was Peggy Templeton.

All cheerleader squads put on pep assemblies for just about every home game. Each assembly had class competitions, skits, and speeches from the different coaches.

“Rebel” staff:

A new beginning together

This year's "Rebel" staff met together one period each day all year long. The staff had to make dummy and final layouts, design each page, and write articles and captions for each section. Vocational Photography gave the staff some pictures and printed some of them. Vocational Graphic Arts typed all of the copy. Edwin Marcella designed the wolf on the front cover of the book.

Margretta Josephson advised the staff with Editor Alison Barrett and Assistant editor Kadeen Craig.

The yearbook staff sold carn-a-grams during Homecoming Week. The "Rebel" staff also held a raffle at Christmas. Lisa Coleman, the winner, won a $20 gift certificate to Northwest Records. Finally, staffers sold advertisements to local businessmen.

“Parallax” writes on

Parallax is a monthly magazine that is put out by South Kitsap High School students. The price of Parallax is one thin dime or two fat nickles.

Doreen Wright supervised Parallax with the help of editor Darrell Wilson and Assistant editors Jan Dixon and Chris Williams. Staff artist was Marlene Rayl.

Parallax included editorials, fiction, and non-fiction, poetry, and puzzles. Vocational Graphic Arts, headed by Charles Sams, prints the magazine.

“Skuhkum Views” reports the news

“Skuhkum Views” is the official South Kitsap High School newspaper produced by dedicated reporters and writers. Vocational Graphic Arts prints the paper.

“Skuhkum Views” is usually six to eight pages long. It consists of articles on national and local controversies, articles on things happening around school, sports and student editorials.

Editor Debby Huntington was assisted by editors Andrea Hill and Kevahn Steinke for first and second trimester and Terry Munson third trimester.

Under the direction of Margretta Josephson, “Skuhkum Views” met every day to work on the usual deadline. The paper was handed out during school hours.

Girls' Club is a winner

Girls' Club is designed for high school girls who enjoy working together to make things happen. This club allows all the girls at South to participate. Mrs. Templeton, who is the club advisor, organizes the girls' meetings and activities. Activities organized by the Girls' Club included: Homecoming Court Tea on October 14; Mini-Olympics on April 24; Senior White Night on June 1; and the various skits put on at the pep rallies.

The girls try to break the monotony by planning these activities during school time. Some activities are sponsored for outside the school in and around the Port Orchard area. The girls meet new people and develop friendships which can last a lifetime.

Worth their weight in Golden K

The most unique club at South Kitsap is Golden K. The club is composed of a few, selected, senior girls who organize projects that help the community. Some of their projects included: making ceramic ornaments for the Christmas bazaar; going to the hospital at Halloween and taking the patients cards; sending roses to a nursing home on Valentine's Day; and holding a tea for the sophomore girls. The club's advisor is Mrs. Denis.

German Club moves up front

German Club had some fun this year. They sold Advent Calenders, had two German parties, and did a TV show. A few of them went to a German restaurant and planned a German convention. Unfortunately the convention had to be cancelled because not enough people signed up to attend.

AFS aids exchange students

Teaching foreign students about American ways of life and procedures are two main purposes of AFS. Students come from all over the world to stay with American families. Since South's foreign exchange students have been here, they have gone to a haunted house, roller skating, bowling, and to a pizza party. As a fund raiser, they sold Christmas items at the Farmer's Market in Port Orchard.

Deca leads the future

Deca is a club organized to prepare students for marketing and distribution in the business world. It deals with students who want to understand the business world developing their leadership as well as relations with fellow students.

The students sell merchandise such as necklaces and candy bars during their own time while sometimes they take over the student store with fellow students, as it takes two of them to run the store.

This club is open to any student willing to learn the ways of the business world. The club is worth while as it leads the students into the depths of business.

Key Club opens the door.

Community service clubs and organizations spring up all the time. This year South had a new club. Every new club has to go through the time of organizing, finding new members who will support the club. If they make it through these adjustments then they begin activities. A food drive, blood drive, and visiting convalescent homes were the main accomplishments of the club.

Mrs. Gustafson and Mr. Price advised the club of 15 members, while Jayme Hrenko took over as President.

FFA competes statewide

The Future Farmers of America Club is designed to teach students the basic skills of an agricultural career. All around the state, the club competes with other schools. Some of the competitions included: dairy, livestock, and goat showing at Grays Harbor; Kitsap County Fair; Western Washington Fair at Puyallup; dairy and livestock judging at Thurston; and Enumclaw Livestock Show.

FFA is versatile. It competes in many different events. These events consist of logging rodeos, competitions on forestry skills, floriculture and horticulture showing, contests on parliamentary procedure, and a creed contest.

The club's main project was BOAC--Building Our American Community. Working with other groups in the community, the FFA is landscaping 15,000 acres of South Kitsap High School.

Future Farmers of America Club brought much pride and respect to the school by always finishing in the top ten of all the state.

The club officers were: Laury Jacobs--president; Dale Montgomery--vice president; Debbie Grover--secretary; Susan Kucharski--treasurer; Matt Murphy--sentinel; Jill Pierson--reporter.

Debate Team has shortened season

South Kitsap's Debate Team lost many experienced competitors this year but had excellent performances from newcomers in Debate. They all stuck together and put out a very fine season.

Team captain this year was Mike Fitzsimons. He has been in Debate all three years. Mike had no partner this year but was part of South's number one senior team last year.

Mrs. Wright, advisor, thought Alex Martinez and Jamie (Walt) Jamison gave outstanding performances this year. Alex was a state finalist in dramatic interpretation while Jamie placed sixth in State in the impromptu category.

Sophomores Beth Hislop, oral interpretation; Jerry Whalen, oral interpretation; Joe Lavin, expository; John Godek, expository; Greg Estes, oral interpretation; and Traci Sammeth, junior, expository were consistent for the Debate Team all year long.

Chris Donnelly, Pete Donnelly and Dave Valdez were top junior debaters.

On December 5 and 6, the Debate Team went to the Bellingham Western Washington University Tournament. Half of the team was suspended from further competition due to the behavior at the tournament. The Debate Team also was stuck for the weekend because of the Bellingham blizzard. Because of this, the team was unable to attend the Gonzaga, Whitman, and the Lower Columbia tournaments as the team was restricted from any overnight trips.

On February 6 and 7, they went to the University of Puget Sound where Mike Fitzsimons placed third in the Lincoln-Douglas Debate. Other debates included:

Ristine, Gardner reign at Homecoming 1980

Homecoming, October 13-17, began with Spirit Week and various dress-up days: Monday, T-shirt day; Tuesday, Western Day; Wednesday, Tourist Day; Thursday, Pajama Day; and Friday, School Colors and Ugly Couple Day.

On Friday an assembly was held where the Homecoming Court was introduced and performed in skits and competitions. The 10 candidates for Homecoming Queen and King carried cans throughout the week to see who could get the most money to win the Ugly Couple Contest. Karen Hatch and Kurt Rasmussen won.

After the Football game Friday, the Coronation was held. Larry Kuhns and Gina Paul were master and mistress of ceremonies. Shannon Ristine was crowned Homecoming Queen and Kevin Gardner was crowned Mr. Kitsap by last year's winning couple, Lisa Drew and Dana Grant.

First runners-up were Jo Lou and Darrell Wilson. Second runners-up were Kelly Brady and Kurt Rasmussen. Third runners-up were Cally Cass and Peter Burgess. Fourth runners-up were Marcia Hartman and Bret Lovely. Other members of the court were: Kadeen Craig, Joel Gray, Karen Hatch, Joanne Hetrick, Sean Jahr, Brian Lund, Joan Lyman, Lynn Madliak, Mike Manavie, and Bill Plummer.

Terri Heath sang the theme song, "Somewhere." Other musical presentations that evening were by Highlighters singing "Longer" and "Lady is a Tramp" with the solo by Diane Logan and several selections by Jazz Band.

The Homecoming Dance was Saturday. The band "Preacher", consisting of several South Kitsap students--Dave Dickerson, Burt Day, Paul Williams, Rob Welsh, and Kevin Gardner, band manager--played at the dance.

Students participate in Knowledge Bowl

Twelve South Kitsap High School students participated in the 1980-1981 Knowledge Bowl, as academic competition among schools of the Olympic Peninsula. Each of the schools made up a team to compete in a question and answer contest.

The purpose of this competition was to gain experience, to learn, and to have fun.

The Education Service District 114 put on the Knowledge Bowl. It was held in Port Angeles at Peninsula College.

The students were recommended and selected by the teachers.

South placed second in one round and eleventh in another. Bremerton was the overall winner and received a trophy for their efforts.

Mr. Chappuis, counselor, organized the Bowl for the South students.

Bounce, bounce Hee haw

Bill Crosby's Donkey Basketball trotted, halted, and brayed to the South Kitsap High School gym in an event sponsored by the Junior Class.

The basketball competition was between the teachers and the student body. The teacher's team consisted of Elton Goodwin, Gus Tomaras, Lydia Grimm, Bob Bonnell, Ben Brumfield, Frank Sullivan, Ed Fisher, Don Smith, and Larry Gallagher, a teacher from Cedar Heights Junior High. The student team was made up of Holly Simmons, Brigitte Brose, Juan Hosea, Peter Donnelly, Jeff Burgess, Mike Poole, Larry Kuhns, and Gina Paul.

The teams played for the best two out of three games. When the third game was played Bill Crosby brought out the heavy artillery: donkeys trained to be stubborn, donkeys that moved slowly, and donkeys that moved like trains then stopped quickly.

The Junior Class, teachers, teams, and audience really had an amusing and fun time.

At the end of the tournament, the faculty found themselves victorious.

Spring Spirit gets all dressed up

The signs of spring started showing up everywhere around school. The fashions changed, the spring sports began, and then the outbreak of spirit came to a peak with the 1981 Spring Spirit Week.

Darth Vader came to lunch, and Bonnie and Clyde were in class. Each day of the week represented a movie. Monday was "Star Wars", Tuesday "Lawrence of Arabia", Wednesday, "The Godfather", and Thursday was "Animal House Day". Friday was Academy Awards Day with all the trimmings--tuxedos, formals, and the Oscars.

The Band and Drillteam pepped everyone up by performing their parade season tunes and routines. After which the Oscars were handed out. Jay Smith received an Oscar for best dressed on "Star Wars" day. Best dressed on "Lawrence of Arabia" day was Lisa Peterson. Amanda Majors was given the Oscar for "Godfather" day. Patti Paul received the "Animal House" Oscar, and best dressed teacher of the week was Mrs. Barnum.

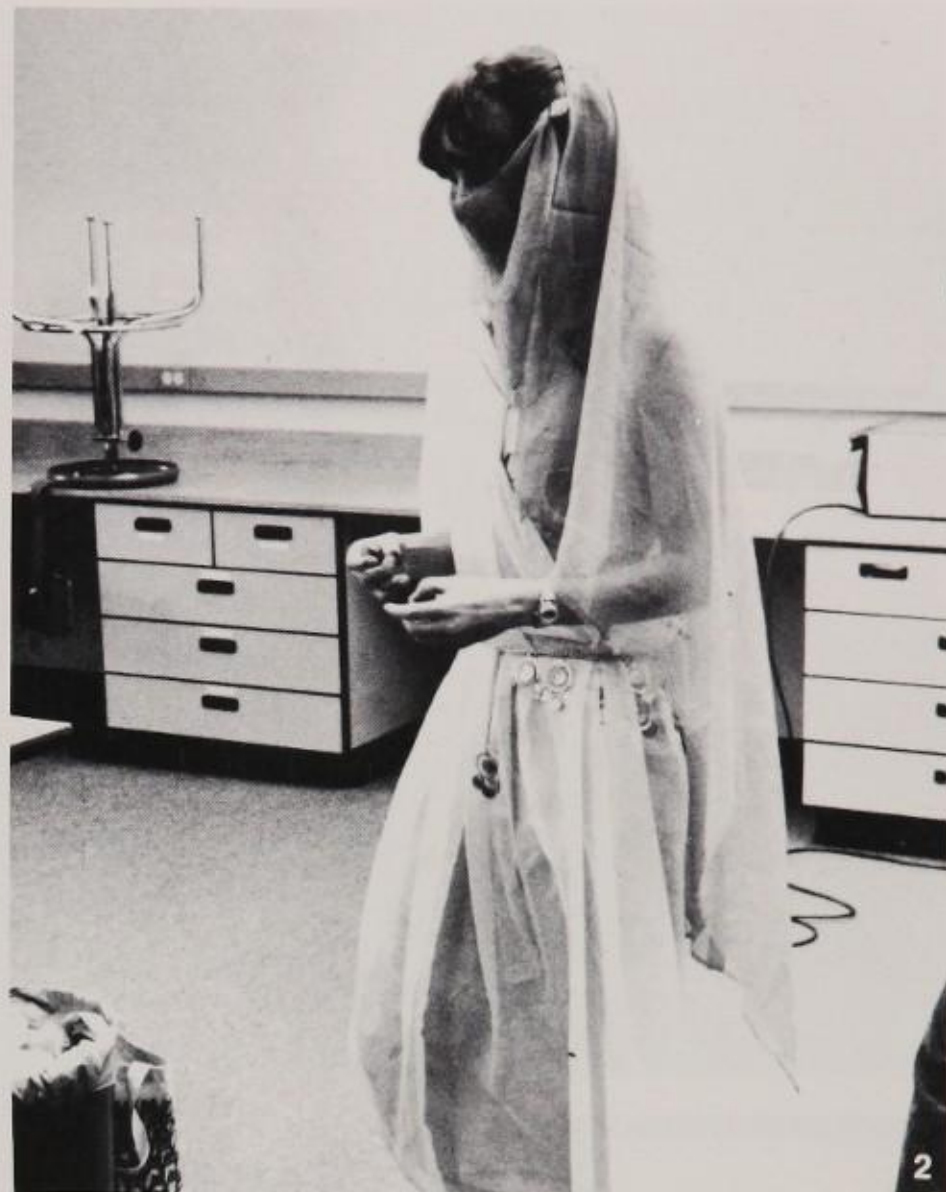

The assembly for the Academy Awards ended with a Mini-Olympics competition. Four teams competed in a tricycle race, conveyor belt, straw race, tug of war, and a stale peanut butter sandwich eating contest.

The teams were ASB, Outstanding Juniors and Sophomores, Exchange Students, and Honor Society.

The victorious ASB team was closely followed by the Outstanding Juniors and Sophomores with the Exchange Students third. Honor Society finished fourth.

Kevin Gardner and Lori Prichard were the hosts.

Football ends with best year ever

During the season, the Wolves were ranked from fourth to tenth in the state by the news polls. Playing in the state's toughest league, the Narrows League, did not seem to bother the football team much. The Wolves finished second in the league behind Mt. Tahoma although the season did not end there. The Wolves went to the state playoffs and made it to the quarter finals where they fell to defeat under the Cascade Bruins.

The Wolves ended their season with a 6-3 win/loss record. They won their first five games with determination and good playing. Their first loss came to one of the semi-tough teams in the league, Lincoln. It seemed that the Wolves had hit a string of bad luck because they also lost to the defending state champions, the Mt. Tahoma T-birds. The Wolves losing streak lasted only two games with a moral victory over the Bremerton Knights.

The first playoff game, against Clover Park, was another big victory for South, 53-18. Things were really looking up for the Wolves going into the quarter finals. But South's winning season came to an end in a must-win game to the Bruins, 20-6.

The Wolves learned how to use their skills to the best of their abilities from the excellent coaching staff at South. Head Coach Ed Fisher said, "They're a neat bunch of kids and are the most enjoyable group of kids I have ever coached."

Fall Spirit hosts football banquet

South's season officially ended with the Football Banquet put on by the Fall Spirit girls.

All of the coaches showed their appreciation for the teams' efforts. The coaches presented letters and awards. Fall Spirit girls presented players and coaches with individualized scrapbooks covering the football season.

The banquet was also a time for the coaches to say farewell to the departing seniors and to thank them for the time they had given to help make South a good contender in the Narrows League.

Much time was put into making South a good team and credit should go to the coaches and also to the statisticians who helped during the games.

As the coaches and players looked back at the past season, everyone seemed to understand why they were all there: To help make South Kitsap the best school in the state.

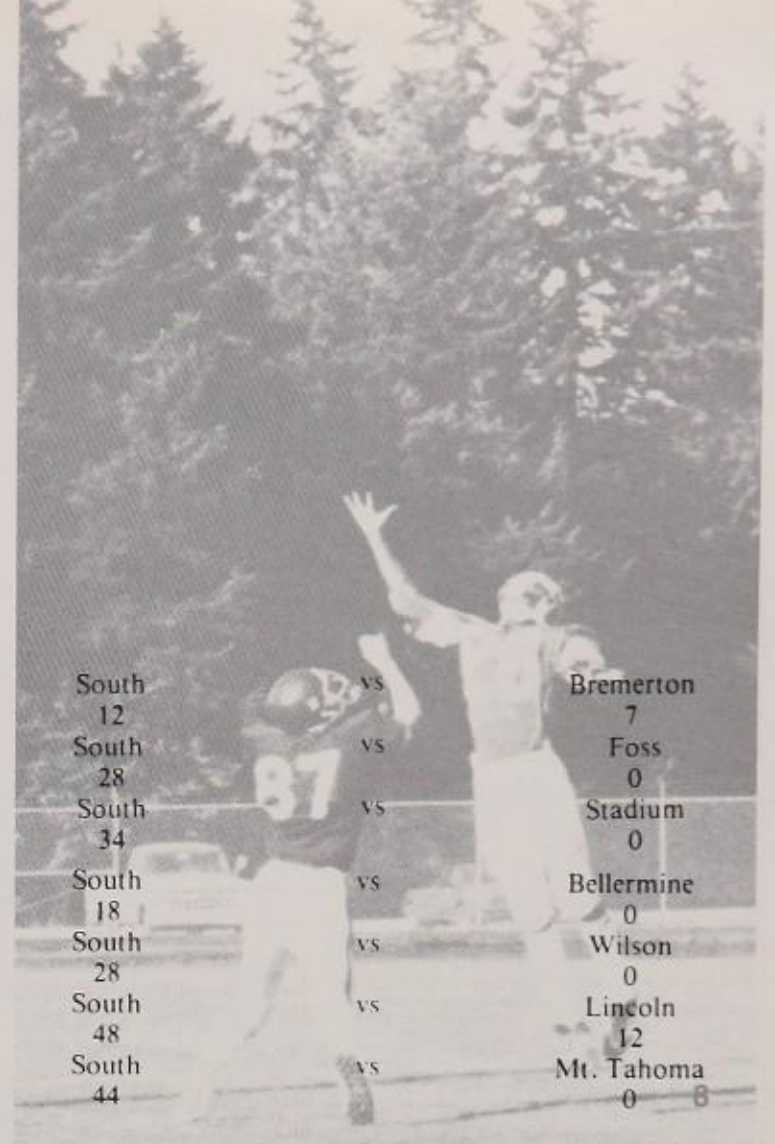

1. Sophomore Steve Nelson receives his first South letter.
2. The outstanding offensive line--John Sperber, Mike Butcher, Mark Rill--receive their awards.
3. Rick Hughes, Scott Jones, and Dave Scott receive their awards for outstanding playing.
4. Brian Porter receives his letter from Head Coach Ed Fisher.

JV's keep it going

Continuing an old South tradition, the junior varsity team went undefeated this season.

The JV team was led by an explosive offensive unit which scored more points in four games than any of the teams they played. The defensive unit was very strong. They held five teams scoreless while South took total control. The defense only allowed two teams to score any points at all. Both offense and defense combined made South's JV's unbeatable.

With the great coaching staff at South, the junior varsity should and probably will be able to keep this undefeated tradition going strong.

2. Quarterback, Steve Nelson, crops back to pass.
3. The JV's start the game with the kick off.
4. Receiver, Buck Simmons, goes high for the ball.
5. Bill Tredge loses the handle on the ball.

Volleyball spikes through 1980 season

Valleyball team had a disappointing season this year resulting from entrance into the new league and the inconsistency of play. This was the Volleyball team's first year in the Narrows League. With the tougher competition, the team had a 3-9 win/loss record. They were a "very inconsistent team," said Coach Posey. They could win games, but they could never win both of them at a time.

On the other hand, the junior varsity and sophomore teams did very well. JV only lost two of their matches, and sophomores won all but three of their matches: once to Bremerton Christian and twice to Lincoln.

Cross Country places 5th in Narrows League

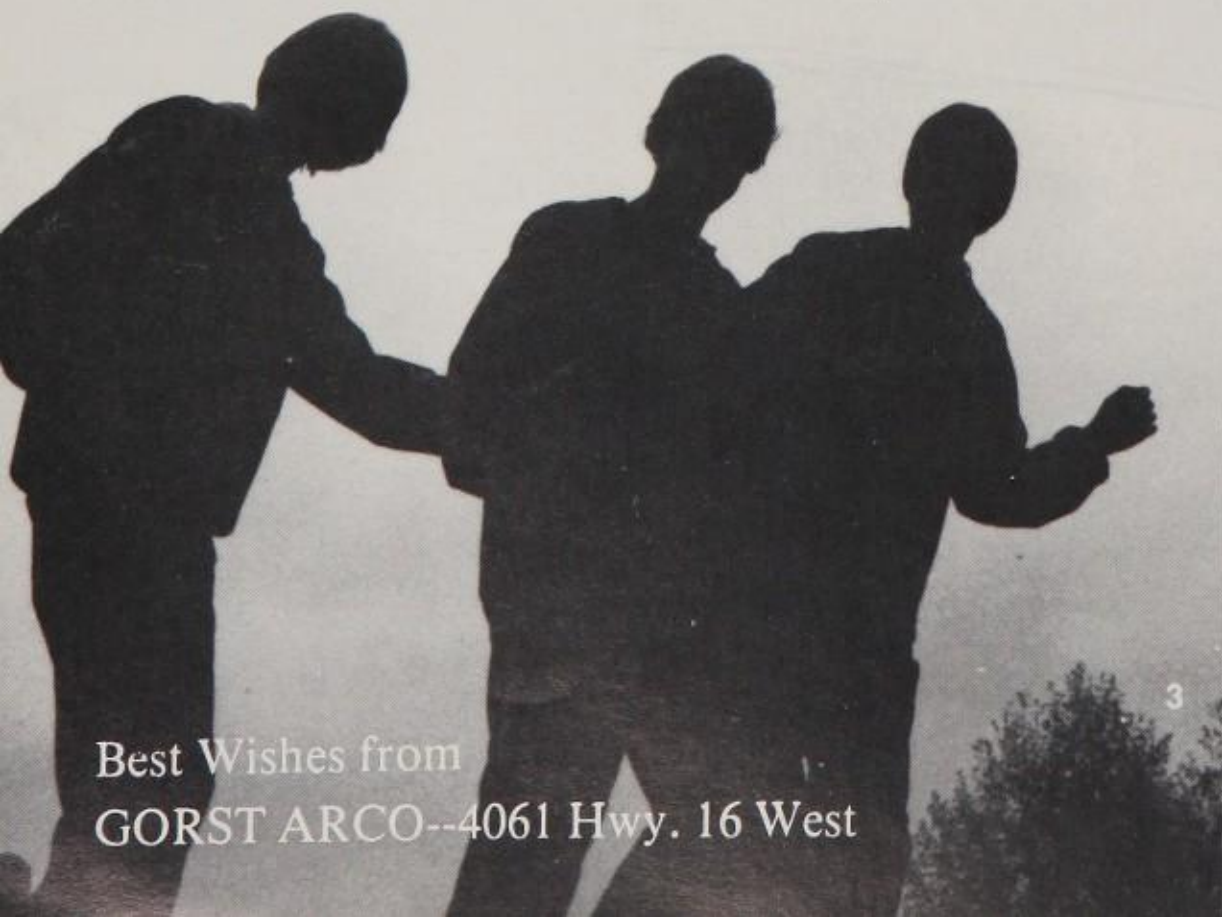

Cross Country team was plagued with injuries this year, causing it to take fifth in the Narrows League. According to Coach Pugh, Tom Hedt and Mike Poole were the outstanding performers on the team. Mike finished the season with three first places and Tom with one.

Allen Carter and Larry Kuhns did not finish the season in tip top shape because of leg injuries; none of the eight girls finished the season either.

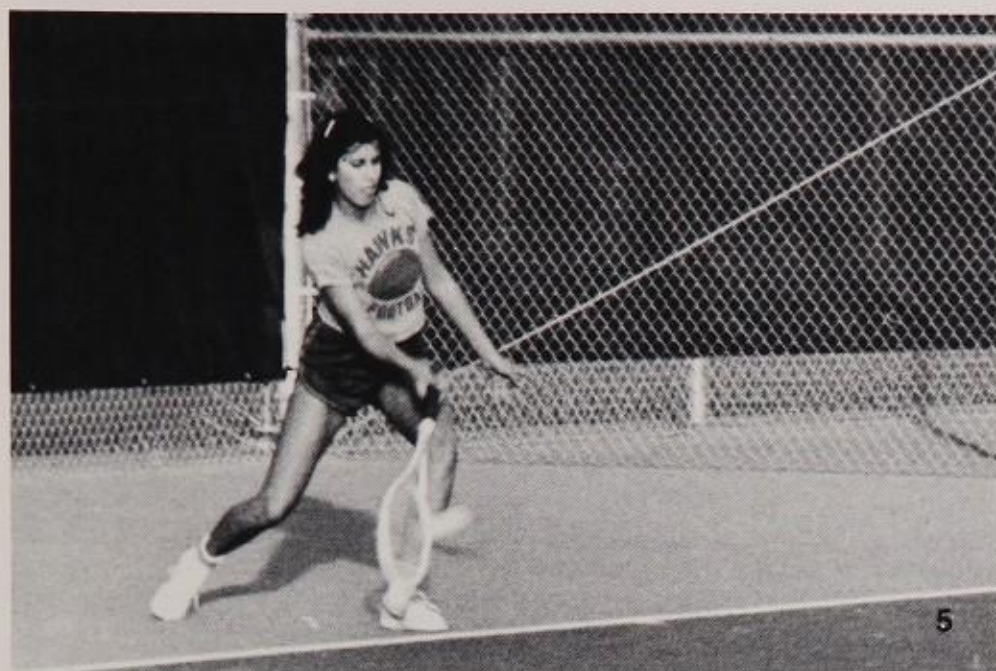

The team had a win/loss record of 2-4.

1. Tom Hedt confidently retains the lead over Lincoln.
2. Back row: Coach Pugh, Chris Mossman, Carcy Buell, Allen Carter, Rex Warren, Dave Smith, Jerry Whalen, Brett Manning. Front row: Steve Latique, Greg Hatch, Larry Kuhns, Mike Poole, Tom Hedt, Joe Stimson, Dennis Miles.

Tennis Team improves over last year

Hard work and determination earned the Tennis team a fair season with a win/loss record of 7-6. It was a little improvement over last year's record of 5-4. The team's success can probably be attributed to the six members returning from last year's team/ Lynn Campbell, Ann Cordova, Teresa Hayes, Melissa Jacobsen, Susie Muyskens, and Tracy Sammeth.

According to Coach Sullivan, top players on the team were Susie Muyskens, Ann Cordova, and Monika Steinke. Both Susie and Ann are seniors and will be leaving this year, but Monika is a junior and will be a principle player on next year's team.

5. Ann Cordova hits the ball to far court.

Wrestling Wolves place fifth in state

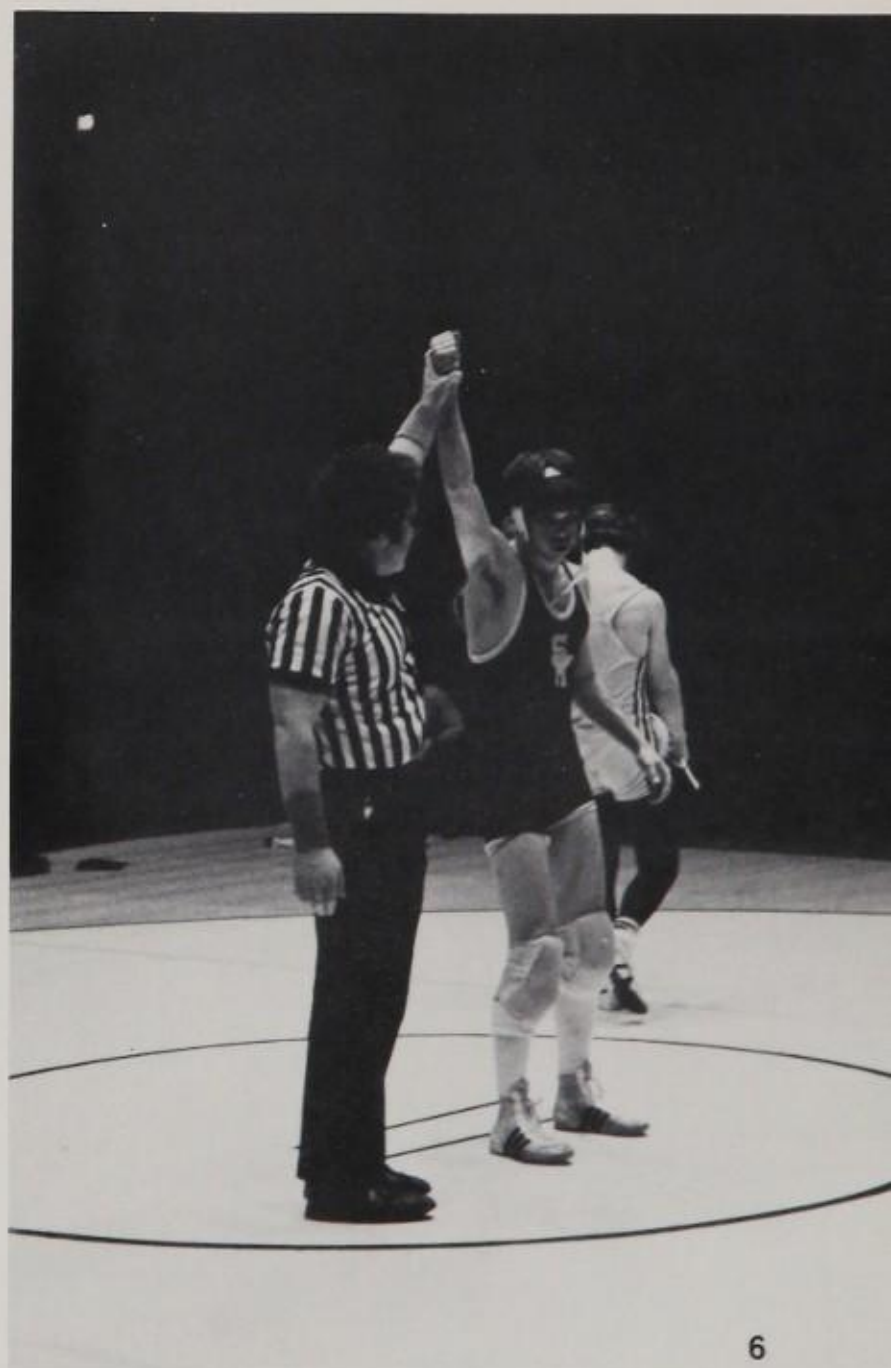

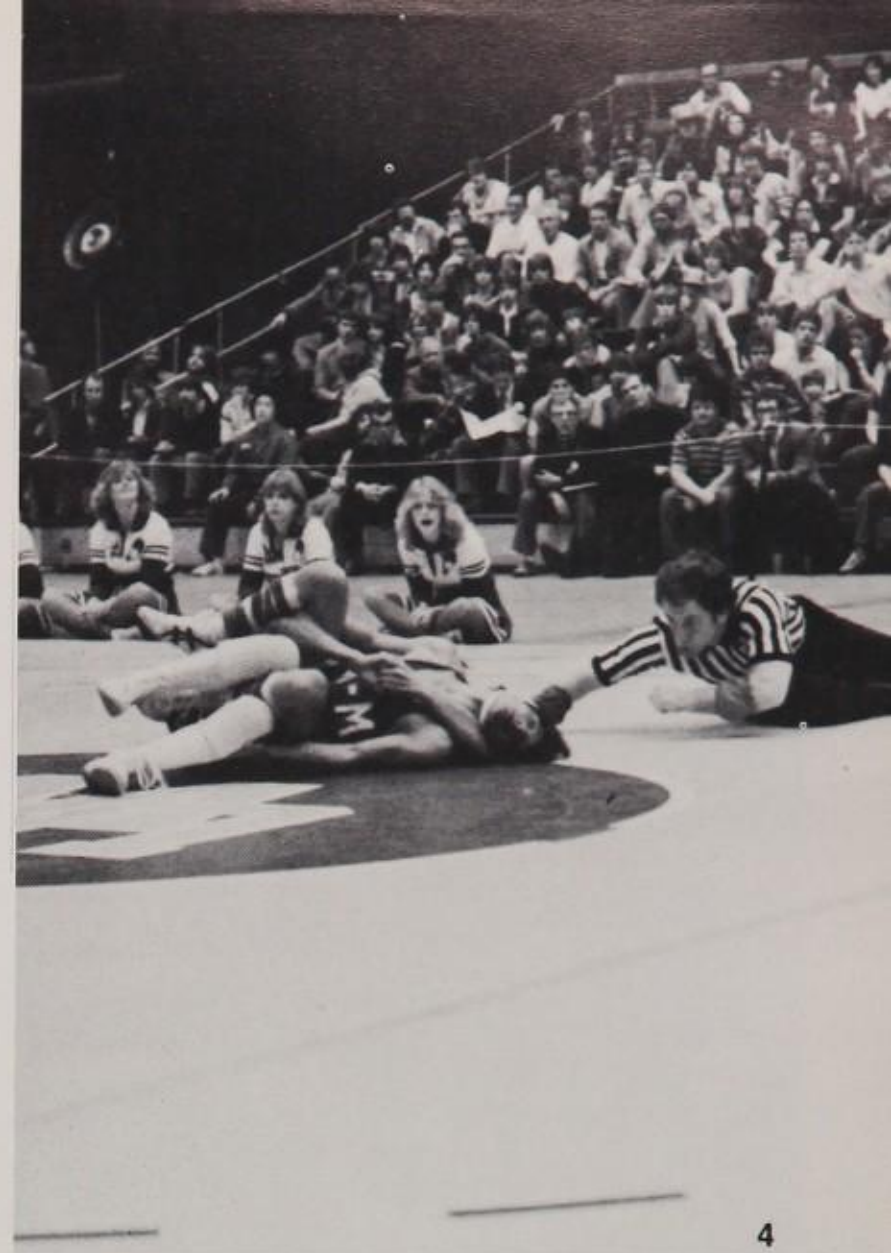

SK Wolves had a very successful season this year accomplishing a win-loss record of 8/5. Many wrestlers suffered injuries that kept them temporarily out of action. Wade Winslow suffered an elbow injury which placed him on the bench for the last part of the season. Dean Perdue suffered a knee injury and Dan Souza an ankle injury which placed them out of the first part of the season.

Dean Perdue won first place in the state championships in the 124 weight class. Other outstanding wrestlers were Ken Tarver, Dave Wood and Dan Souza who all attended the state tournament.

"We were good and we did what we planned," said head coach Lyle Ballew. The season was a slow one for the wrestlers up until the first part of the year when they began to pick up. The team out-scored all of the teams they played except for Kent Meridan.

Boys Basketball gives it their all

Boys' basketball jumped off on the wrong foot this season first by losing its seniors and then by finishing the season without a win.

With the loss of the seniors, the season was left up to the juniors and sophomores who gave it their all, but due to the lack of experience, they could not win a game. Most of the games were just heart-breakers for the Wolves who really tried but came up short.

South should be proud of its basketball team because it took pride and determination for the Wolves to play wholeheartedly up until the final buzzer.

Tough '81 season for girls' basketball

The Wolves started off the season winning one of their non-league games and proceeded to lose all of their scheduled league games.

It was a tough season for the girls who ended up the season with a win/loss record of 0-15. Under the supervision of Head Coach Lloyd Pugh and Assistant Coach Mary Pugh, the team tried their best and came up on the short end of the jump.

All in all the season was not a total loss. It did get the juniors and sophomores some experience for next season.

Golf has best season in S.K. history

This year's Golf Team has been the strongest in the history of South Kitsap. Under the direction of Doug Smith, the team has won several league, as well as non-league, tournaments.

Chris Burns and Mike Waara, the two most outstanding players of the season, led the team in total points.

Real team effort brought on the team's largest victory. They crushed Mt. Tahoma on April 6, 1981, 106-32.

Track sends four to State Finals

The Track Team finished the season with a win/loss record of 6-1 for the boys and 1/6 for the girls.

The season was filled with outstanding performances by superior members. Chris Mossman set a new school high jump record at 6'4". Greg Estes, Brian Porter, Steve Kelly, and Susan Wilson all went to the State Finals. Susan Wilson placed second in the javelin at that competition.

The coaches, Mr. Pugh, Mr. Olsen, Mrs. Jahr, and Mr. Whitford, were pleased with the outcome of the season. Mr. Pugh said that the season went quite smoothly.

The seniors displayed leadership as the juniors and sophomores learned and developed new track skills.

Next year's team should prove to be excellent with several outstanding members returning.

1. Greg Estes leaps for distance.
2. Steve Kelly warms up for a meet.
3. Stormmy Paul goes for another win.
4. Eddie Shelby makes a pole vault attempt.
5. Susan Wilson is one more throw closer to State Finals!
6. Tom Hedt is doing what he does best...winning.
7. Marcella Murphy confidently awaits her turn for the javelin throw.

S.K. Baseball takes league title

South Kitsap Baseball had an excellent season this year. They ended the season with a win-loss record of 15-4. The four losses were from Port Angeles, Lincoln, Olympic, and Bellarmine.

Outstanding players were: Mike Webber, pitching a one hitter in a game against Anacortes winning 15-1; Rick Hughes batted three for three and knocked in five RBI's in a game against Bellarmine winning 21-3; Ray Snow in a game against Anacortes batted three for three (all home runs) and knocked in five RBI's.

At the last regular season game, which gave the team their league title, Joel Grey batted five for five hitting a double, triple, and a home run. Bret Lovely batted four for five; Shawn Freeman batted three for six both hitting a double and a home run.

S.K. baseball won the league title but missed winning state title. Twelve seniors will be leaving this year with only two players returning to the varsity team to carry on the baseball tradition in 1982.

1. Coach Goodwin carefully contemplates the next play.
2. Shawn Freeman scores for South.
3. Bart Lovely and Jody Martin take a rest after a hard game.
4. Bret Lovely kneels down for a field out.
6. Taking a swing for a single is Bret Lovely.

Tennis has successful season

As a first year coach, Russ Graham did very well by coaching his team onto a 9 win, 5 loss record. This record gave the team third place out of the Narrows League.

Three of the nine varsity players making letterman were seniors. With the remaining lettermen and players, Coach Graham feels they will be even more successful in upcoming years.

Coach Graham tried to emphasize to his team, "Doing your best is winning, no matter what the outcome of the match." This type of thinking will take them even farther next year, for hopefully another successful season.

Softball a young team

South Kitsap Softball accomplished a fair season, ending up with a win-loss record of 2-10. Coach Mayfield pointed out that the varsity team was very young this year, consisting of only four juniors and eight sophomores.

Outstanding players were Karleen Brigham, Terri Lockwood, Laura Bernier, and Missy Michler. Michelle Amburn was omitted from the last part of the season because of a leg injury.

1. Tara Murker casually takes her bases after making a super hit.
2. Karleen Brigham pitches the ball down center plate.
3. Front Row: Ellen Wilkerson, Debbie Jordan, Mary Petterson, Virginia Springer, Karleen Brigham. Back Row: Coach June Mayfield, Shannon Pugh, Laura Bernier, Tara Murker, Michelle Amburn, Rhoda Bitz, Elizabeth Martin.
4. Laura Bernier smacks the ball for a single.

Soccer kicks off at South

With the new high school came a new sport at South. Soccer was finally introduced to the student body. Interest in this athletic event was great, drawing many people to the tryouts. The top 29 athletes were chosen to be on S.K.'s first soccer team.

The Soccer Wolves started the season off with their first of six victories. This first game was not only the beginning of the new sport, but also a test for the new team. The first game was a decisive victory of 5-3 over Port Angeles: South was on the move. South played Foss next to a 0-0 tie. The next game was the first of eight losses for South. The team did not play together which accounted for their loss to Port Angeles 2-0. When South met Stadium both teams were held to a 0-0 tie. A big game for South was against Bellarmine, ranked fourth in the state. South played very well letting only one goal be scored the entire game.

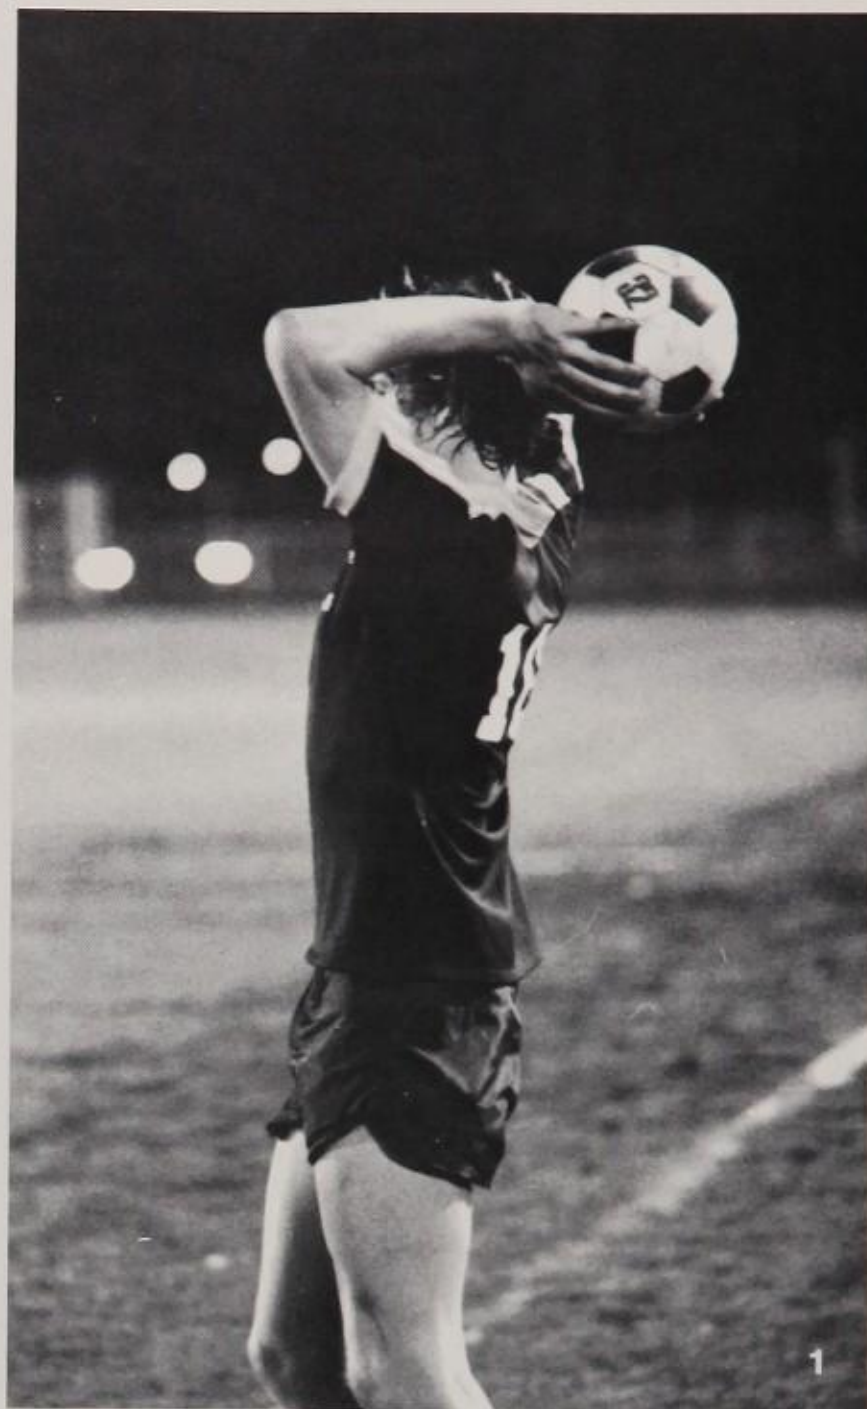

The Wolves were getting more experience with each game.

The Wolves' next opponent was Wilson. This game ended in a tie. Mt. Tahoma came up next and South couldn't get it together to overcome the 2-0 deficit. South also lost to Lincoln 4-2. But the Wolves got it together when Bremerton played. South won 4-3.

South went on to win their next two games, Foss 4-2, and Olympic 5-2. After this great winning streak came a losing streak which lasted for four game: Wilson 2-3, Stadium 2-4, Bellarmine 0-1, and Mt. Tahoma 0-2. South's last two games were played very well with South beating Lincoln 3-2 and tying Bremerton in the final game of the season 3-3.

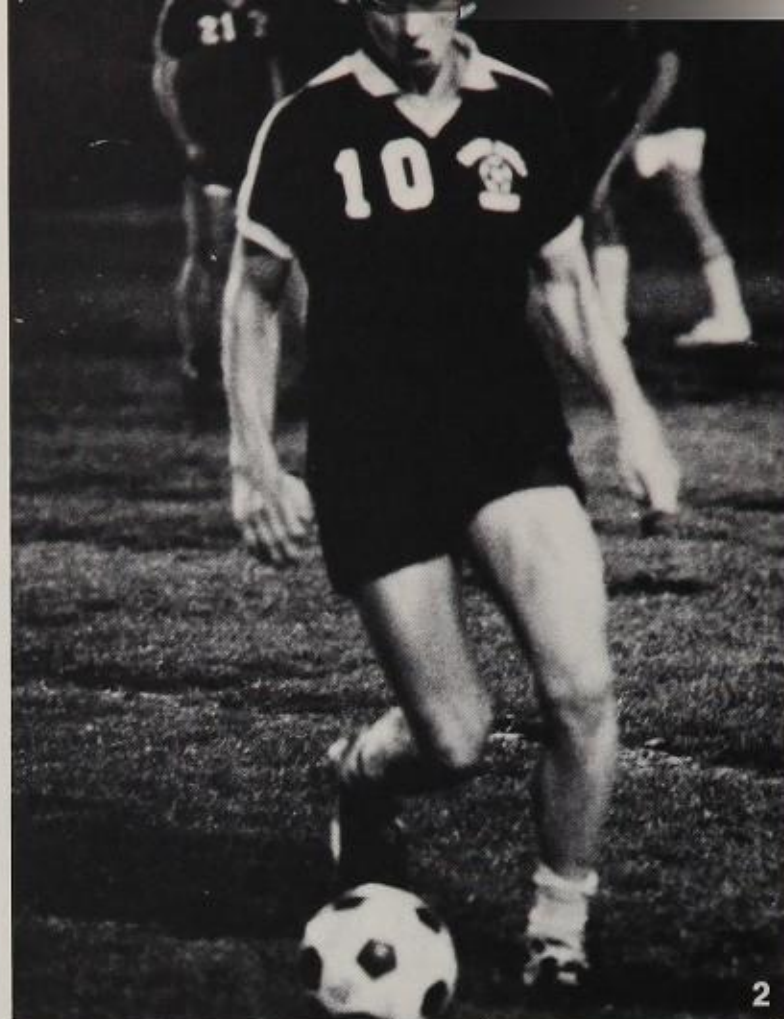

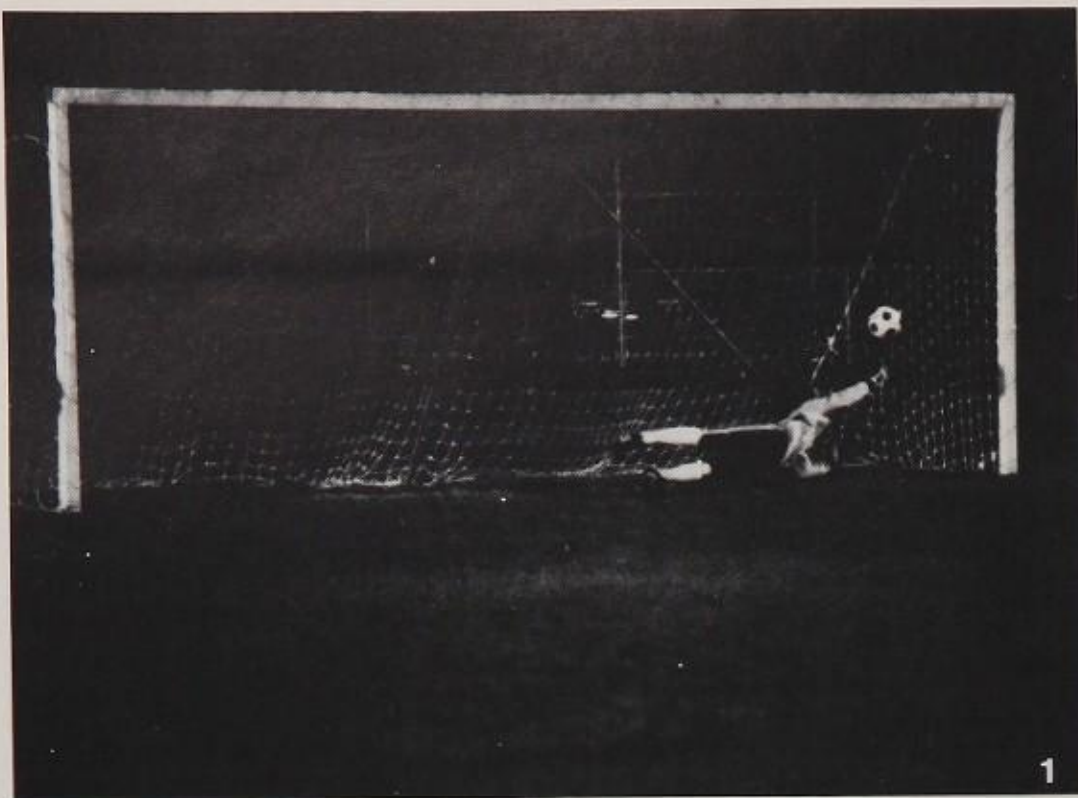

The new Soccer Wolves ended their season with a 5-8-4 record in the Narrows League.

For a new team, with many excellent players, the Wolves let everyone know they are on the move and ready to go....

Front Row: Willy King, Cathy Gromling, Jennifer McClure, Tom Beckley, Shawn Randolph, Jeff Mathis, Darryl Hanson, Norm Anderson, Scott Wakefield, Pat Clary, Pete James, Jimmy Otts, James Lyon, Dana Johnson, Joanne Wicklander.

1. The Wolves score on Olympic High.
2. Chad Peterson dribbles down the field.
3. Bill Plummer fakes out the defense and goes down field.
4. Fred Gansemer set up for a shot.
5. Scott Bitterman and Bill Plummer steal the ball from an Olympic High player.
6. Getting ready to pass the ball is Scott Bitterman.
7. Chad Peterson goes around the defender.
8. Picking up the pass ia Scott Bitterman.
9. Scott Bitterman blocks Olympic High's shot.
10. Chad Peterson saves the ball from going out of bounds.
11. Scott Bitterman passes out of trouble.

The music department at South is a vital and exciting part of school. Class were conducted in music with member participation in Field Band, Jazz Band, classical music, and marching; others were filled with singing. Women's Glee, Highlighters, Concert Choir and Sophomore Choir were offered.

But the music department is more than sheet music and song books. A precision Drill Team, Color Guard, and banner carriers helped build spirit and pride in the school and community.

Women's Chorus sings with pride

Women's Chorus is a group of women divided into two major parts, Sopranos and Altos. These parts combine to create a certain blend in the music they sing. That blend makes their sound unique.

This year's Women's Chorus was made up of Sophomore and Junior girls. Their first performance, the Winter Concert, was in the new Performing Arts Center. Other performances included the Olympic Choral Festival, the Junior-Senior High Choral Concert, and the Spring Concert all held at South.

The director was Jeff Mitchell and the pianist was Liz Spooner.

Members of Women's Chorus included:
Karen Andera	Janine Hill	Patti Paul
Terri Bertelson	Peggy Jahnson	Melinda Phillips
Audrey Buresh	Renee Johnson	Laurie Renolds
Lynn Campbell	Colleen Long	Maria Sheats

Red robes designate Concert Choir

In their red choir robes, distinguishing them from other choirs, the Concert Choir walked onto the stage to perform their first concert in the new Performing Arts Center.

Songs ranged from religious to popular melodies. Performances included the Winter Concert, the Olympic Choral Festival, the Junior-Senior High Choral Concert, the Spring Concert, and various concerts around the city.

The choir was made up of sophomore, junior, and senior students, most of whom were involved in other choirs.

With Jeff Mitchell as Director and Holly Simmons as pianist, the members were:

Spring season keeps Highlighters busy

With every spring season comes a hectic schedule. This included SK's Highlighters. The spring months brought an uncountable amount of concerts and benefits in addition to the performances during the fall and winter.

Other performances included Homecoming Coronation, Winter Concert, Spring Concert, Jazz Night, and the list went on.

Highlighters music ranged from jazz to pop with almost everything in between.

Holly Simmons accompanied the group on the piano and Ken Brooks accompanied on the drums. The director was Jeff Mitchell.

Participants in Highlighters were:

Jenny Adkison

Jazz Band: A year of reconstruction

As a result of last year's graduating seniors, band director Rob Stuvland had to use 1981 as a building year for Jazz Band. He added to the remaining five seniors and two juniors, eleven sophomores who now comprise the band.

For the first two trimesters of the year, the band had to meet before or after school to rehearse. But with the addition to the sixth period third trimester, they were able to practice during the school day.

Performances started with the Homecoming Coronation and included others such as the Winter Concert, Spring Concert, their own special Jazz Night, graduation, and a few public performances in Port Orchard.

Jazz Band consisted of :

Jim Bertholf
Roger Billings
Michelle Binder
Eric Cass

Wind Ensemble plays the Opera House

It was an honor for the 1981 Wind Ensemble to perform at the Seattle Opera House May 7. It was the reward of months of practice beginning the first month of school and the result of a competition to obtain the opportunity.

With Rob Stuvland as their director, the Wind Ensemble gave many performances. These included the Winter Concert, a Memorial Day Concert, Spring Concert, and graduation.

On April 29, a professional audio technician taped a small concert South hosted while the Edmonds Junior High School Concert Band and Choir visited them.

Comprising the 1981 Wind Ensemble were:

Pep Band adds twist to basketball games

The 1981 Pep Band brought a change to the boys' home basketball games. Instead of wearing the usual Pep Band t-shirt, they dressed up to different themes every game; such as Cowboy Night, Opposite Sex Night, and Kindergarten Night. They were even "The Unknown Pep Band" at one game.

The band practiced after school for an hour on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. They performed at all of the boys' home basketball games and a couple of the girls' games. To top off the season they played at a Sonics game on March 6 and on March 15 the KIRO Variety Club Telethon.

One member of the band, Jim Bertholf, won a T-shirt for being the most spirited at the games.

Mr. Stuvland was the band director.

Members of the 1981 Pep Band were:

Toni Acker	Doug Irish	Lisa Rauch
Doug Anderson	Tony Justice	Kevin Ringer
Jim Bertholf	Amy Kinyon	Dan Ryan
Darcy Bentley	Ray Kolke	Kevin Scott
Roger Billings	Ed Macabitas	Pia Skoglund

Band joins Kingbowl Band Blast

Under the instruction of Drum Major Kyle Williams and the guidance of Band Director Rob Stuvland, the Band, Colorguard, and the Drill Team participated in the band competition which was at the Kingdome on December 5.

Although they did not win in their division, they were rated a two; one being the highest rating, five the lowest.

Overall, Mr. Stuvland was quite pleased with the results since this was the first time that they had participated in the Kingbowl competitions.

Practices were held every Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday after school in all types of weather and in whatever condition the football field was in.

Not only did the band compete at the Kingdome, but they also performed at all of the home football games. They performed pre-game shows and a couple of half-time shows.

To carry out a tradition, at the last game of the regular season, the band dressed to accommodate the weather. Many students came wearing thigh high boots and plastic overcoats which came down to their knees. There were all kinds of hats, and the drummers had umbrellas taped to their drums.

Mr. Stuvland also complied with the custom by wearing a wet suit complete with snorkel, mask, flippers, and even a knife strapped to his leg.

1. Field Band performs to their first number, "España Cani."
2. Norm Dalthorp dressed up for the South vs Bremerton football game.
3. Always practicing was the baton twirler, Carrie Swanson.
4. Stacy Greenwalt is in readiness for the big swim-out on the football field.

Marching Band-A competitive business

With the agony of "de feet", unbearable weather, and total dedication came the thrill of victory.

This described the 1981 SK Marching Machine.

Practices were held every Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday in every type of weather imaginable.

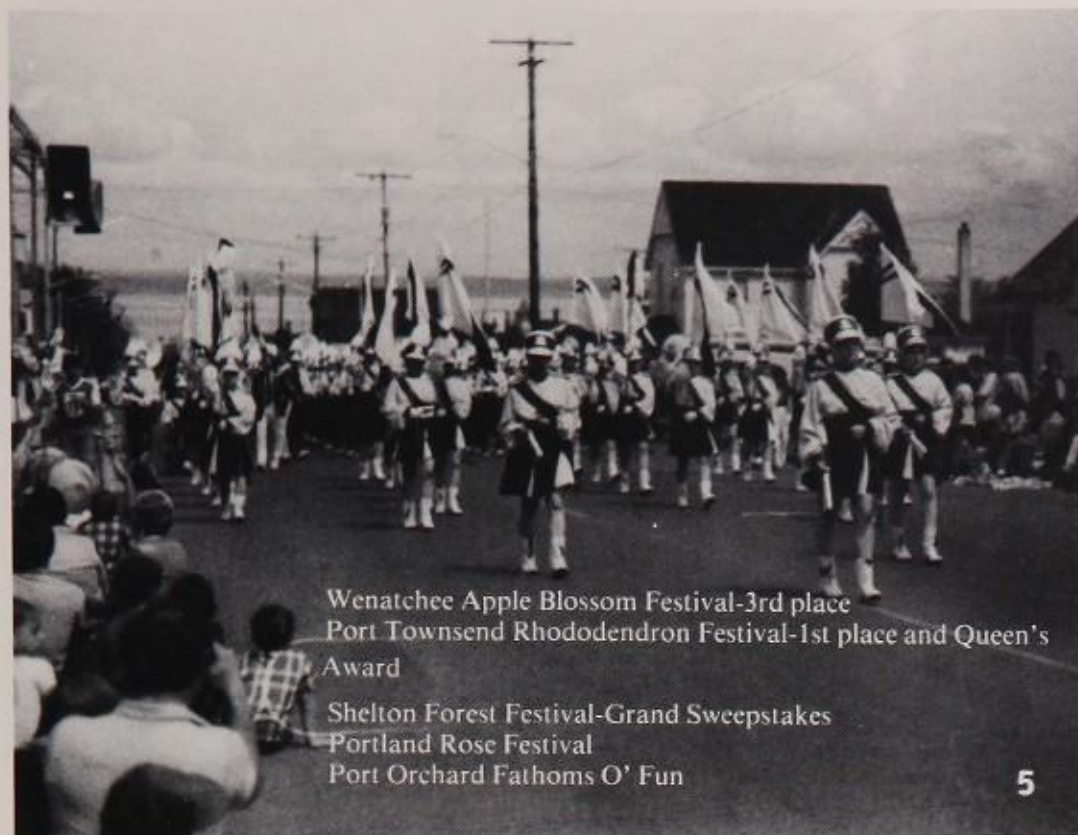

They marched in many parades around the state such as the Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival Parade and the Port Townsend Rhododendron Festival Parade.

To make up for the cancelation of their planned trip to Hawaii they marched in the Portland Rose Festival Parade instead.

Leading the Band and Color Guard were Drum Major Kyle Williams and Color Guard Captain Tammie Scaglione. The director was Rob Stuvland.

1. Robert Koepke, a "wheelchair" person, pulls ahead of the band.
2. Stacy Greenwalt, most inspirational, and Kim Boltz hand out plumes before a performance.
3. Sam Nelson, "Beetle" Schenfeld, and Jeff Womack smile for the camera.
4. Kyle Williams, Drum Major, gives some last minute instructions to Lance Mertell, Drum Captain.
5. The Marching Machine performs in Port Townsend for the Rhododendron Festival.
6. Introducing the three stooges: Mark Hassebrock, Dave West, and Chris Burns.
7. The drummers wait for Kyle to give them the signal to 'man their drums'!
8. Senior Tony Justice and sophomore Mark Hassebrock? What a couple!
9. Total dedication and total concentration are the ingredients for a number 1 Band.
10. Members of the colorguard relax before a performance.

Drillteam hosts 1981 State Competition

Entertaining 61 high school Drillteams was quite a busy task as the S.K. Drillteam found out when they hosted the 1981 Drillteam State Competition March 13 and 14. The planning for this event was done by junior Gina Paul.

Drillteams from all over the state came to participate in the event.

With their traditional curly hairdos, the S.K. Drillteam performed, receiving a rating of Excellent.

Performances started in the fall with football, included the winter months with basketball, and ended in spring with the annual marching season.

They marched in such parades as Wenatchee Apple Blossom Festival Parade, the Port Townsend Rhododendron Festival Parade, and the Portland Rose Festival Parade.

Practices were held Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays after school.

Leading the Drillteam was Captain Denise Standaert.

Advisors were Meri Ellen Bond and Jeff Mitchell.

4. Corey Davis and Veronica Cantu watch a football game. Patiently waiting to perform.
5. Rodney Garbarino warily joins the Rebel staff.
6. Sophomores! Sophomores! Sophomores!

Sophomores show their spirit

Although it was the Class of '83's first year at South Kitsap High School, they showed their spirit by joining the Drill Team and Color Guard and dominating sports. The sophomores elected as class officers were: Chris Donnelly--president; Phil Cole--vice-president; Denise Wetmore--secretary/treasurer; and Faye Norwood and Renee Morrow--senators.

Making money was not successful for the sophomores primarily because they sponsored the Talent Show which was cancelled at the last minute. However, the Council ventured into a promising deal where they washed and sold bricks from the old South Kitsap High School. The most money made came from the selling of class rings. A competition was held based on class enthusiasm and dedication. Each sophomore earned a certain amount of points and the one with the most points was given the title of "Most Spirited Sophomore". The points were gained by making publicity posters and attending class meetings.

They have been great sophomores and will be even better juniors!

Seniors plan ahead

1. ASB President Kevin Gardner and Darrell Wilson nervously await the announcement of who will be the next Mr. Kitsap.
2. Happy 18th Birthday to Melinda Langdon.
3. "Godfather" Day brought out the mob. Kevin Gardner and Bill Plummer take care of junior John Barnhart.
4. What's wrong, Chuck?
5. Patti Bradwell and her infamous smile.
6. Kadeen Craig. Are you going somewhere?

After two years of double shifting, the Senior Class finally met the underclassmen. Construction was finished. At last sophomore jokes could be fulfilled.

Senior Class President Shannon Ristine started the year off with planning committees and a raffle for a 100 dollar gift certificate for groceries. A Senior Ball committee was formed and Homecoming got underway. At Christmas, Seniors raised money by wrapping packages.

The rest of the year was spent in preparation for the Senior Ball, May 9; Laurel's Banquet, May 27; Senior White Night, June 1; graduation, June 5.

IOR SENIOR SEN

IOR SENIOR SEN

Seniors have "Best of Times"

1981 Senior Ball was held in the Commons of SKHS. With silver stars and reflective panels surrounding the dance floor and the stairways and windows accented with lights, the Commons was as beautiful as any hotel ballroom. The silk roses and crystal vases topped the effect, but they mysteriously disappeared by the end of the night.

The 300 couples who attended stayed active dancing to the music of Milestone and visiting throughout a night that ended at midnight.

Pictures were taken by Gus Tomaras in front of a backdrop painted by David McIntyre and Marlene Rayl. Other donations for the dance were three dinner gift certificates and some plants from Port Orchard Nursery.

Shannon Ristine, Kadeen Craig, and Brenda Fears put the dance together with the help of others.

1. Brigitte Brose and Holly Simmons prepare the punch bowl for the Prom.
2. Gabriel Oliva presents his tickets to Barbara Ryan at the door.
3. Gary Otts and Kelli Pinette Show a little romance before the dance.
4. The group "Milestone" was the performing band at the Prom.
5. Diane Hetrick and Marcella Murphy discuss their dates at the Prom.
6. Seniors enjoy the first dance of the evening.

The Laurels Banquet, sponsored by Honor Society, was May 26. It was a ceremony which recognized graduates who had obtained a 3.5 cumulative grade point average. After a short introduction by Principal Win Granlund, desserts were served. Guest speaker Dick Anderson, from the United Learning Institute, gave a well received speech on setting goals and positive attitudes.

During the main presentation, each of the 39 seniors introduced his family and briefly told about his plans for the coming years. Senior counselors, Meri Ellen Bond and Steve Chappuis, awarded the gold honor cords to be worn at graduation and certificates. Karen Hatch received the Phi Beta Kappa Book Award for being the outstanding graduate. Karen was chosen by the Phi Beta Sorority for this award because of her national test scores and her grade point average.

1. Melinda Langdon ponders the banquet table. Desserts were supplied by the students.
2. Senior Class President Shannon Ristine walks towards the other honor students after receiving her cords.
3. Organizers of the Laurels Banquet were Honor Society Officers. Left to right: Jackie Stokes, Treasurer; Diana Smith, Secretary; Toni Schryver, Vice President; Marcella Murphy, President and Mistress of Ceremonies Doreen Wright.

Senior White Night a crying success

Senior White Night brought both happy and sad times to many girls.

There were positions filled by talented girls as club officers, fall cheerleaders, Golden K, and Drillteam seniors gave up their positions to underclassmen. The other position filled was for "Girl of the Year" which was awarded to Marcella Murphy.

The emotions increased as songs were sung by Wanda West, Anita Scaglione, and Debby Huntington. The final Slide show was presented with the theme song "Yesterday Once More."

1. Junior Holly Simmons helps by serving the many girls who attended Senior White Night.
2. Barbie Schreiner, Edie Olsen, Diane McBane, and Pam McElyea talk over their sadness in leaving.
3. Joanne Hetrick, Kadeen Craig, and Kathleen Hampton enjoy the punch provided by Girls' Club.
4. Seniors Mary Sablehaus, Debbie Wojick, Melinda Morey, Lynn Madliak, Jo Lou, Cally Cass, and Kelly Brady get together for one last time.

Baccalaureate, Hallelujah!

Baccalaureate was the first chance for the graduates to try on their mortarboards and gowns. Parents, faculty, and graduates began with the opening hymn of "How Great Thou Art". The South Kitsap Ministerial Council organized the event which took place in the Performing Arts Center on June 3.

Darrell Wilson gave the welcoming and introduced the speakers. Reverend Clarke Hamilton gave the opening invocation which was followed by a scripture reading from Doctor Robert Vahey. Senior Consuelo Dela Rosa was the student speaker. Frosty Westering, head football coach at the Pacific Lutheran University, was the guest speaker.

In his oration he urged students, with humorous examples, to live up to their fullest potential; and never to be discouraged by what others have achieved.

Musical selections were performed by Concert Choir; Angie Welling; and a duet by Debby Huntington and Ray Kolke.

Doctor Daniel Kolke gave the closing prayer. Reverend Jed Minton offered the benediction.

Cake and punch was served afterwards by the South Kitsap chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

1. Frosty Westering offers a simple example of how to rise above problems.
2. Darrell Wilson and Consuelo Dela Rosa welcome Frosty Westering.
3. Everyone joined in the hymns.
4. Concert Choir entertains.

Granlund flips at breakfast

Before graduation practice on June 5, the administration, with the help of others, put on a delicious breakfast for the seniors. The menu consisted of pancakes, ham, juice, and milk. This was one of the last times for the seniors to get together. Awards for senior recognition were given out as well as senior t-shirts.

1. Pia Skoglund takes a few last snap shots of her friends before returning home to Sweden.
2. Marcia Hartman signs autograph pages before practice.
3. Kurt Rasmussen and Holly Glover read the last issue of the school paper while eating breakfast.
4. Matt Hargis finishes some last minute homework.

Soap Bubbles grace Commencement

Tears, smiles, and soap bubbles were prominent parts of graduation evening.

Commencement exercises were at the field house on the University of Puget Sound campus in Tacoma on June 5. The processional of graduates began at 8:00. Anxious seniors filed two-by-two onto the main floor and into one of the 13 rows.

Senior Chuck Hislop began the ceremony with the invocation after Jeff Mitchell sang the Star Spangled Banner. Alex Martinez started off the student speeches and was followed with speeches which drew from memories by Jackie Stokes and Soraya Carvalho. Intermittently were musical and vocal performances by David Dickerson and Joe Gagnon; and Pia Skoglund.

Meri Ellen Bond and Steve Chappuis announced the names of all of the senior honor graduates and the names of all seniors receiving awards and/or scholarships.

Next Principal Win Granlund congratulated and presented the class of 1981 as the first class to graduate from the new South Kitsap High School. School board member Hal Fassett greeted the students and officially accepted the class.

Challenging the class to ever strive toward their own goals was Dr. James Swick, school district superintendent. Finally as Meri Ellen Bond and Steve Chappuis, senior counselors, announced the names of each senior. Win Granlund presented the diploma covers (official diplomas were picked up after June 15th).

A few tears fell and many shouts from the audience were heard as graduates made their way through a throng of photographers and well wishers. As the last of over 460 graduates left the podium, Marcella Murphy offered a short benediction and the recessional parade to find friends and family began.

The three hour long ceremony was highlighted with people blowing soap bubbles, trying to find the same seat before the benediction, and three flying mortarboards.

Editorial

The school year of 1980-1981 will be remembered by most as the year our hostages in Iran returned home; the space shuttle finally took off and returned; the attempted assassination of President Ronald Reagan; the mysterious Atlanta slayings; and the happy completion of South Kitsap High School.

But, I, personally, will remember it as the year I graduated, and the good times I spent working on the annual with the "Rebel" staff.

Staffers included Kadeen Craig, my right arm and assistant editor; cheerful Kathleen Hampton; Kerry Page who never saw the light of day because he was always in the darkroom printing; Gary Otts who gave "Big Al" lots of encouragement and who introduced brother Jimmy to the staff; Melinda Langdon, quiet and resourceful; energetic Patti Boscola; Keith Willette, photographer, printer and chief karate expert; and Dean Piercy who willingly stayed after school to take team photos.

Other hard working and underpaid staff members included Doug Askern; Eric Elkins; Rodney Garbarino; Ryan McConnell; Lisa Peterson; Barbara Prichard; Barry Romeis; and Fiona Swanson.

But we didn't do it all alone.

Many thanks go to Mary Buntin and Kathy Knapp for typing and retyping; Gus Tomaras, Pete and Dave Summerill, Frank Sullivan, and the Port Orchard Independent for donating photographs.

And when deadlines were dangerously close, Mr. Olsen and the Vocational Photography class were ready to help print. The class was made up of Scott Bitterman, Charlene Dawson, Kahtleen Hampton, Karen Hoppe, Curtis Huber, Chelle Hughes, Connie Oldoren, Kerry Page, Ross Remenak, Dean Piercy, Keith Willette, Chris Wylie, and myself, Alison Barrett.

Organizing, designing, laying out and finding the right photos for the annual was a year long, energy sapping job. Luckily the staff was full of vitality (and cupcakes).

Communtiy members and other school departments contributed to this end product. One such department was Vocational Graphic Arts led by Charles Sams. They loaned us tools and spent many hours working on copy for us. Involved in the class were Scott Bitterman, Dung Bui, Marti Caldwell, Charlene Dawson, Dave Dematto, Tony Edwards, Scott Goldader, Teresa Johnson, Cathy Knapp, Sharon Lyon, Jack McLain,

Kevin Meeks, Dean Piercy, Robert Plucinski, Tammie Schauer, Diana Smith, and Todd Walker.

Others who we are grateful to include Principal Winslow Granlund and his administration; the teaching staff at South for allowing us to shoot "candid" during class time; and my personal gratitude to Mrs. Josephson, the staff advisor, for posting deadlines and overseeing everything. And my highes praise to the ingenious Edwin Marcella who designed the cover.

Thank-you, thank-you everyone. And thank-you, Reader. I truly hope that you are enjoying the "Rebel" as much as I enjoyed helping in its production.
